EN ROUTE FROM THEATER

High School Student Becomes County's 22nd Traffic Victim of Year.

Fatally injured when the car in which she was riding crashed head-on into a guard rail four miles west of Mansfield on U. S. route 30-S at 11:30 p. m. Saturday, Miss Eileen Zediker, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Zediker, 470 South Main street, died in the General hospital a half hour later.

A school girl chum, Virginia Quaintance, 15, of 497 West Fourth street, and two Shelby youths, Russell Pittinger, and Samuel Vanesdale, both 18, were treated at the hospital for lacerations and abrasions and released.

Miss Zediker's death was the result of a fractured neck, hospital attendants said.

The fatality was the 22nd recorded on Richland county highways since Jan. 1. At this time last year 27 persons had been killed in traffic.

State Highway Patrolman R. I. Governor said the car driven by Vanesdale left the highway on the right side of the road and mowed down two posts of the guard rail before coming to a stop.

He said he had questioned Vanesdale and that the youth could give no reason for the accident.

"We were driving along about 35 or 40 miles an hour when all at once the guard rail loomed up in front of the car," Governor quoted the youth as saying.

The patrolman reported that the Zediker girl who was riding in the rear seat of the light coach with Pittinger, apparently had been thrown against the rear of the front seat by the force of the impact.

The four youths were returning from Galion where they had attended a motion picture show.

Miss Zediker was a 10-A student at Mansfield High school where she was a member of the band, the Blue Tri and the girls athletic

DEATH MYSTERY

Mother, 32, and Roomer Found Shot to Death at Bryan.

BRYAN—(AP)—Coroner Howard J. Luxan, today investigated a mysterious shooting which left a 32-year-old mother and a roomer dead in the woman's home at nearby Edgerton.

Fatally wounded by shotgun blasts late yesterday were Mrs. Nona Goeltzenleuchter, 32, and Vern Eck, 42.

Acting Williams County Coroner E. R. Jacks and Deputy Sheriff William Lamont both said it looked like a case of "murder and suicide," but neither would express an opinion on how the shooting took place.

Lamont said the woman's son, Dale, 14, told him and Sheriff Leroy Siders that he returned home to find his mother dying on the kitchen floor and Eck dead in the next room.

The deputy said Eck had been shot in the chest and the woman wounded by two charges from the single barrel gun. She died en route to a hospital here.

Puts Brunner, Vaughn, Gibson on Park Board

Mayor Announces Selection of Commission to Develop System; Agrees with C. of C. Recommendations in Appointments.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter today announced the appointment of H. G. Brunner, Roy W. Vaughn and Robert S. Gibson to the newly-created non-partisan board of park commissioners.

The three appointees were recommended to the mayor for appointment two weeks ago by a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce, Mansfield Public Parks association and the garden clubs of the city

Brunner, state manager of the Home Owner's Loan Corporation, with offices in Columbus, is a former mayor of Mansfield and former state Democratic executive chairman.

Gibson is cashier of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank and Vaughn president of the Mansfield Public Parks association, is a salesman for the Ohio Public service.

Brunner's term is for three years, Vaughn's for two and Gibson's for one, Hunter notified each today.

Picked From List of Five.

Hunter said he had selected the three from five recommendations given him by the committee.

He said Brunner had been appointed because of his "outstanding business ability." Brunner is also a successful farmer, owning a modern, up-to-date farm on the Richland-Crawford county line.

"There will be a great deal of financing in connection with the new board's work and for that reason Gibson was also selected," Hunter said.

Vaughn was appointed because of the interest he has shown in the Mansfield parks in past years, the mayor explained.

Hunter said the new board would assume full control of the Mansfield parks system on Jan. 1. The positions are non-salaried.

The board was created as the result of the approval of the voters of the commission plan at the Nov. 8, election.

They will have full control of the city parks now vested in the service director, and will have charge of all disbursements from appropriations made for park benefits by city council.

HUNT ARSONIST

Cleveland Firemen Find Oily Rags at Luna Park Blaze.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Chief Cleveland Fire Warden Patrick E. Barrett today investigated origin of a fire that destroyed the old Luna park roller rink on the east side here today and indirectly caused the death of fire department Captain Roy Haylor, 49.

In addition, nine firemen were burned about the hands and face when a sudden shift of wind blew flames from the blazing structure across the pumper from which they were playing streams of water. All were treated and returned to duty.

Captain Haylor collapsed as he returned to the fire after going to a nearby lunchroom for a cup of coffee. He was pronounced dead of a heart attack at St. Luke's hospital.

Captain Barrett said that oily rags had been stuffed beneath the floor of the 60-foot high wooden structure.

TURN OF VALVE TIES IN WATER IMPROVEMENT

Simple Operation Tomorrow to Link New Woodland Project With City System.

PRESSURE TO BE BOOSTED

150,000 Gallon Elevated Tank to Be Put Into Use; 10 Days Ahead of Schedule.

James Herlihy, superintendent of the city waterworks will twirl a master control valve at the Woodland reservoir tomorrow, linking the 75,000 Woodland water improvement with the Mansfield water distribution system.

This simple operation will start the flow of 150,000 gallons of water stored in a new elevated tank into the city mains that will boost the pressure from 35 to 40 pounds in more than 500 homes in southwestern Mansfield, south of Cline avenue.

Includes New Mains.

The addition to the system, the first extensive improvements to be made in 20 years, includes a new 20-inch high speed main on Cook road and Lexington avenue, a 150,000-gallon storage tank and new booster equipment at the Woodland reservoir.

The project, culminating five months of work, was completed 10 days ahead of schedule and at a cost of approximately $1,000 under the city engineer's estimates.

Construction was started July 2 and furnished jobs for an average of 220 WPA workmen for nearly five months who were paid approximately $45,000 in federal funds. The project cost the city $74,000.

2-Week Tests End.

Representing three separate contracts, the improvement was completed late in November, but for the past two weeks has been undergoing acceptance tests by A. M. Mock, city engineer in charge of the project.

Mock completed the extensive tests Saturday and turned the improvement over to Herlihy.

The engineer said the opening of the reservoir, in addition to bolstering the pressure 35 to 40 pounds in the Woodland district, would also increase fire pressures in all sections of the city south of Park avenue.

He explained that the additional pressure in the Woodland section where some homes have booster pumps, would probably cause the water to go "through" the pumps. He said that these persons should not be alarmed if the pump starts to leak.

Mock was employed by the city two years ago as a designing engineer to conduct a comprehensive survey of the water system as a result of scores of leaks which plagued the city system during the 1936 winter.

"The Woodland project is a worthwhile step towards the improvement in the Mansfield water system, but it must be remembered that as yet only the surface has been scratched towards making the necessary improvements as recommended by consulting engineers," Mock said.

The contract for the elevated storage tank which will contain a supply for the Woodland area for 24 hours without pumping was awarded to the Chicago Bridge and Iron works on its low bid of $14,790, while the Purdy construction company of Mansfield made the changes at the reservoir and installed the booster pumps and electrical equipment on its bid of $4,025.

MISTLETOE BAN IRKS BARMAIDS

'What's Wrong With It' They Ask of Union Proposal.

LONDON—(AP)—London's prettiest barmaids scornfully protested today against a suggested ban on the mistletoe in "pubs" during the Christmas season.

A high union official started it by telling members of the saloon section of the transport and general workers' union that "many a good, honest woman behind a bar is dragged forward to be kissed under the mistletoe by some stupid, drunken man."

A barmaid of "Ye Black Friar Pub" led the girls in the retort "what's wrong with it? Christmas is supposed to be a time of good will, isn't it?".

No union action was taken.

ARCH SWINDLER DEAD IN PRISON

Means, Gifted Detective and Master Liar, Got $104,000 in Lindy Kidnap Hoax.

(By United Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Gaston B. Means, arch swindler, master liar, and gifted detective, died early today. He died a prisoner of the government, serving time for defrauding Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, wealthy owner of the Hope diamond, of $104,000.

He was 59 years old and his giant frame had been withered by an illness extending over several years. He was brought here from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, a week ago for a gall bladder operation. He succumbed to a heart attack. In his prime, he weighed 230 pounds.

Means career was one of the oddest and most spectacular of his generation. He had been indicted for such crimes as murder, espionage, forgery, bribery, larceny, embezzlement, violations of the national prohibition act, conspiracy, and was a self-confessed master crook. But he was convicted only twice.

His death caused immediate speculation as to the whereabouts of some of his ill-gotten gains for he was known to have swindled an assortment of victims out of hundreds of thousands of dollars. None or very little of it was ever recovered.

Mrs. McLean never received any

OPENS LETTERS

Mrs. Hahn's Attorney to Study Pre-Death Notes Today.

CINCINNATI—(UP)—The four envelopes given by Anna Marie Hahn to her attorney, Joseph C. Hoodin, shortly before she died in the electric chair last Wednesday, were to be taken from a safety deposit box today.

Hoodin and Hiram Bolsinger, who said they believed the letters contained a confession by Mrs. Hahn to the poison murder of which she was convicted, said the letters would be opened today.

"I must have time with my associates to study the contents before I make a statement," Hoodin said.

Hoodin said that Oscar, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Hahn, had been brought back from a short hunting trip in the country.

"I think we have about worked out a plan to care for the boy," Hoodin said. "Whatever that plan is, I will do my best to keep it secret so that Oscar will have a chance to forget the recent happenings."

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Two policemen dressed up like wealthy women in an attempt to trap purse snatchers but all they lured were a couple of motorist mashers who hailed them with a "hi, honey!"

Baird Ready to 'Go To Town' on Yule Show

City's Ace Impresario Will Have Role of M. C. at Coliseum Event.

J. GILBERT BAIRD, sales promotion manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, and Mansfield's one and only "big time" impresario of entertainment, literally rolled up his sleeves today and went to town on assembling the various phases of the midnight show which will be staged at the Christmas ball, Dec. 19 at the Coliseum.

Baird is just between "engagements." He returned two weeks ago from six weeks of supervising commercial pictures for his company in Hollywood and the first of the year he will take the Westinghouse commercial show on tour.

He is being assisted by J. M. Barnett, mechanical engineer in the sales promotion department of Westinghouse, who will be in charge of the floor and decorations at the Coliseum. Baird also will serve as a master of ceremonies for the show.

There was a whirl of activity on a half dozen "fronts" at the beginning of the final week before the big charity event what with Bob Richards and his Westinghouse orchestra "botting-up" their dance tunes, the Marguerite Speas and Marty Hogan dance studios resounding to the tap of steel on wood as new and difficult chorus steps were being practiced over and over, the trio, the song and dance specialties and the singers—and over them all flare of flash bulbs as a cameraman "shot" the scenes of activity.

Nor was the activity confined to Mansfield. From New York City Jane Wilson, a headliner of the revue, wired:

"I may not be good but I'm diligent. I'm working so hard on the songs you want me to sing, that I'll probably be putrid the night of the show. Even the Boss is interested and is helping me." The "Boss" being Fred Waring.

And today a corps of dressmakers were busy on costumes for the choruses, and glittering piles of gold cloth and ostrich plumes were taking form in abbreviated panties and vests and be-plumed helmets.

The Christmas ball and the show are being talked of all over town and the advance sale of tickets indicates one of the biggest charity events in the history of the city.

Americas Study Plan Of Joint Action In Wartime

Preliminaries Over, Pan-American Delegates Get Down to Work by Debate on Venezuela Plan.

By ANDRUE BERDING

LIMA, Peru—(AP)—The Pan-American conference peace committee, with Alf M. Landon as the chief United States representative, took up today a sweeping project for safeguarding the security of the Americas.

The project was advanced by Venezuela. It defines what would be aggression from a non-American nation and calls for immediate consultation and common action by the Americas in the event of attack.

Some of the delegates considered the project too advanced in concept for conference approval in its present form, but from the committee discussion may emerge a draft acceptable to all.

The committee was easily the most important of the various groups swinging into vigorous action today, after the ceremonies of convoking the congress Friday and Saturday.

Some delegates saw a favorable omen for peace legislation in the address by Jose Maria Cantilo, foreign minister of Argentina, who said on Saturday that the American nations were ready to maintain a common front against any danger which might menace the independence and sovereignty of any of them.

In view of the previous Argentina attitude against any step drawing away from European ties, the feeling prevailed that Cantilo took a step further than might have been expected.

Much criticism of the Venezuela aggression project was that it did not consider the possibility of invasion of the hemisphere by political activities of the non-American nations, which both Cantilo and Secretary Hull, chief of the United States delegation, mentioned in their Saturday speeches.

The United States delegation would like to see something included on this.

Pension Checks for November Mailed From Columbus.

November checks for Richland county's 1,150 old age pensioners were in the mail today, and State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said the December checks will be ready for mailing by Dec. 21.

November pensions, totaling nearly $26,000 in the county, were delayed two weeks while the state and the federal Social Security board at Washington settled their squabble over Ohio's pension administration.

Employes in the state auditor's office worked overtime Saturday and Sunday to get checks in the mail after the federal government sent its half of the pension funds.

Low Bidder Loses Fight For 95-Mile Road Paving Contract

W. W. Purdy, head of the Purdy Construction company, Mansfield, apparently had lost his fight today for a contract for resurfacing 95 miles of county roads in a $68,000 PWA project.

Contending that the county will save money in the long run by paying more for stone base for the roads, C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said the board planned to award a contract today to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, second low bidder on the project.

Purdy's bid is $5,000 under the other firm's figure, but his figure was for gravel materials and the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company's quotation was on stone. Purdy's bid was $49,598 and the Mansfield Asphalt bid was $54,675.

Purdy protested when the county commisisoners indicated they would not accept his bid because they preferred the use of stone. Purdy contended his bid should win, since the specifications did not call for stone exclusively and the state highway department permits the use of gravel.

Commissioners' award of a contract must be approved by PWA officials at Columbus and Washington before it is final.

The project, which must be approved by Dec. 31, calls for use of "black-top" materials on 33 major county roads. The project if approved, will give the county more than $30,000 in the first PWA road project undertaken in this section.

DEMANDS FOR REASSURANCES SENT BERLIN

Nazis Make Near-Sweep of Parliamentary Elections, New Anschluss Looms.

QUICK ACTION PLANNED

Hitler's Followers Jubilant, Claim 'Time's Right' for Union With Reich.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN — Great Britain and France today formally called upon Germany for reassurances in connection with the situation at Memel, Lithuania, where a crushing Nazi victory in the local elections was seen as presaging possible anschluss with the Reich.

The British charge d'affaires and the French ambassador, acting independently of each other, called on the German foreign office today with the requests for reassurance.

Plan Prompt Action.

Meanwhile in Memel, triumphant Naziism planned prompt and decisive action in its long drive for reunion of Memel with the Reich.

After a Nazi near-sweep of local parliamentay elections, which the Germans termed a plebiscite, the local "fuehrer," Dr. Ernst Neumann proclaimed:

"The time is ripe for a decision on, Memel," which was given to Lithuania by the treaty of Versailles.

"We have begged for our rights for 15 years now, and we will beg no more. We don't know what our future will be, but the fate of Memel will not be decided here."

Some action towards anschluss with Germany, or at least complete local autonomy, will be taken when the new parliament meets at the end of January, Neumann indicated.

26 Seats Won, Claim.

Nazi party quarters claimed they won a minimum of 26 of the 29 seats in the diet—an increase of two—but an exact count will not be known for nearly a week. Under Nazi organization as complete as that which prevailed in Austria and the Sudetenland, 97.2 per cent of the electorate turned out in Memel town. In the whole area, which has a population of 152,000 and area of 1,099 square miles, between 96 and 97 per cent of the

New O. S. U. Prexy To Be Selected From 'Outside'

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Over opposition of two members, the Ohio State University board of trustees today adopted a resolution to seek a new president outside the university faculty.

Herbert S. Atkinson, Columbus, and Harry E. Caton, Coshocton, voted against the resolution, preferring that faculty members be considered in the consideration of the successor to Dr. George W. Rightmire, who retired.

The resolution, adopted 4 to 2, read:

"It is the present sense of the majority of the board that we look outside the university in selecting a president."

The move was believed to have definitely eliminated the possibility that Dr. J. Lewis Morrill, vice president of the university, would be selected to succeed Dr. Rightmire.

Roosevelt's Budget Message to Call for 8 Billions

NEW, LARGER DEFICIT SURE IN TREASURY

Experts Say Spending Won't Permit Early Balanced Budget for Nation.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's 1940 budget estimates were expected today to call for expenditures of $8,000,000,000 or more in the next fiscal year and to assure another large treasury deficit.

The budget massage will be submitted to the new congress during the first week of January, probably Jan. 4, the day after congress meets.

Budget plans are carefully kept secret until estimates are read before congress. But upon the basis of known administration plans it does not now appear possible that Mr. Roosevelt will be able to bring the government costs in the next fiscal year low enough to justify hope for an early budget balance.

Deficit at 4 Billions.

The current fiscal year is budgeted for revenue of $5,000,270,000, expenditure of $8,985,157,000 and a net deficit of approximately $4,000,000,000. Fiscal years begin annually on July 1 so that there remain almost seven months of the current period.

In the first five months and eight days of this fiscal year the deficit has increased daily by an average of almost $10,000,000 and from congressional Republicans and Democrats there is a rising chorus of protest and criticism.

There is no substantial prospect, however, that congressional criticism will be translated into affirmative action to reduce government expenditure sufficiently to make any major change in the condition of the treasury.

Rather than materially to cut government expenditures, this new congress, sent to office on a somewhat changing tide of public sentiment, is expected to undertake to altar some New Deal spending methods.

This winter will bring the opposing forces to a showdown on the ear-marking of relief funds, a process whereby congress not only would appropriate relief or public works funds but would resume the practice of stipulating precisely where and how they should be spent.

12 Victims Dead, Illinois Fights Tularemia Spread

CHICAGO—(INS)—Claiming its 12th victim this fall, the most widespread attack of tularemia or rabbit fever ever recorded in Illinois was being fought by city and state health authorities today.

The death toll from the strange malady was raised to at least 12 with the death of Mrs. Nellie Gallagher of Villa Grove, Ill., according to the state department of health.

More than 250 have already been reported stricken since the hunting season opened Nov. 10, and a score of new cases is the daily average reported now.

With an estimated death rate of five per cent, it was feared the list of fatalities would be considerably increased by the time the epidemic dies out.

Other states in the middle west where rabbits abound have reported a marked increase in the number of cases but the dlease is said to be nowhere as severe is in Illinois.

East St. Louis has barred the sale and transportation of rabbits where 16 cases were recorded in the past two weeks, it was said by the department, and other communities are considering similar action.

Teaching schools in England during the recent European crisis was an unpleasant task, according to a letter received last week at John Simpson Junior high school from Miss Florence Maude Davey of Chertsey Surrey, England, who taught at Simpson for one year in a teacher exchange. According to Miss Davey's letter, no one knew from one day to the next how long the schools would remain open, and gas masks were an important part of the school equipment. NAMED DISTRICT THEATER HEAD

Harpster, Ohio Manager, Gets New Warner Post; Dworski Appointed Successor.

Frank P. Harpster, manager of the Ohio theater for the last eight years, today became district manager for Warner Bros., motion picture theater operators, who operate the Ohio, Madison and Majestic theaters in Mansfield.

At the same time it was announced that William V. Dworski, manager of the Madison theater for the last six years, will succeed Harpster at the Ohio, and become city manager for Warners.

Gratton Johnson, in charge of Warners' Sigma theater at Lima, is the new Madison manager. All the changes were effective today. Johnson is due to arrive in Mansfield this afternoon.

Harpster, who has been with Warner Bros. for the last 10 years, also has been city manager for the company. As district manager he will be in charge of eight theaters in four cities, Mansfield, Sandusky, Lorain and Coshocton, with Mansfield as his headquarters.

In the show business since 1922, Harpster headed theaters at Cleveland, Canton and Lorain before coming to this city. His appointment followed the revamping of Warner districts in the state.

Dworski came to Mansfield from Coshocton, and before heading the Madison, managed the Majestic theater. He succeeded the late "Tim" Roberts, widely known Mansfield theater head, at the Madison.

James Skelley, former assistant manager at the Madison, and for the last year an assistant at Canton, succeeds Johnson as manager at Lima.

LOTS OF THINGS 'WRONG' BUT CORRIGAN SALTS AWAY $75,000

(By Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD — Thanks to America's regard for headline heroes, Douglas Corrigan, the jalopy flier, hardly needs to write to Santa Claus for anything.

The former $50-a-week aircraft mechanic has earned $75,000 in three months — as much as the president of the United States gets in a year.

He is the star of a movie and the author of a successful autobiography in magazine and book form.

He leaves by regular airliner late this month for a tour of 15 big cities to boost his book, and he is leasing his famous second-hand monoplane to the San Francisco world's fair, for a percentage of the admissions.

He is open to other offers capitalizing on his so-called wrong-way flight, but he listens to none if there isn't cash on the line.

He is a busy fellow, salting away his overnight fortune, personally tending to all his financial affairs, working daily before the camera, and using his spare time on Sundays to reline the brakes of his 10-year-old car.

The magic lantern town of Hollywood never saw his like before.

There exist a few frugal stars, but only Corrigan lives in a low-priced hotel room, comes to the studio on a bus and lunches on a nickel ice cream bar.

Celebrities commonly publish their life stories, but who except Corrigan fired a ghost writer and composed his own, getting a finger callous from the pencils that scrawled 55,000 words?

Who but Corrigan ever put his foot down on romancing in a movie like "The Flying Irishman" because, actually, he'd never courted a girl?

It is agreed that Corrigan follows no Hollywood pattern, but it is extremely doubtful his is "the wrong way."

The 31-year-old aviator, who quit school in the ninth grade to find a job and got in the habit of eating lightly so he could buy flying lessons, lets the world accept him as is. His uninhibited "aint's" in conversation would make an English teacher shudder. When he dresses up in a full suit of clothes, without his leather jacket, he fusses like a colt bridled for the first time.

G. O. P. PROBER VIEWS PROJECT AS 'FINE JOB'

Poll of Remarks by Committee Making Inquiry Reveals General Satisfaction.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—An often-used yardstick provided a hint today that the Tennessee Valley authority would win a clean bill of health from a majority of the congressional committee investigating its operation.

The yardstick was the questions asked by the 10 committeemen of the witnesses who have praised or decried the TVA system in public hearings.

The bulky records of testimony show that seven members of the committee have been friendly to TVA with their questions or comments, while three others have been sharply critical.

No Startling Disclosures.

Senator Frazier (R-ND) asserted that nearly six months of investigations, in his opinion, had failed "to produce anything startling."

"I've always been friendly to TVA," he said. "Of course, they have made some mistakes and probably spent more money than they should in some cases, but all in all they have done a mighty fine job down there."

This view contrasted with comments and questions of the other three Republican members, Senator Davis (R-Pa) and Representatives Wolverton (R-NJ) and Jenkins (R-Ohio).

Wolverton and Jenkins, usually seated side by side at hearings, have peppered witnesses with questions about "hidden subsidies" in TVA rates, use of general tax funds for one area, and costs facing private utilities that TVA escapes.

In similar fashion, five Democratic committeemen have directed attention to favorable TVA arguments. They are Senators Schwartz (D-Wyo) and Brown (D-NH), Senator-Elect Mead (D-NY) who is serving as a house member, and Representatives Barden (D-NC) and Thomason (D-Tex).

Senator Donahey (D-Ohio) committee chairman, has asked fewer questions than his colleagues, although he frequently ends controversies between members.

DIES IN CABIN

Holmes County Hermit Wrote Books, Taught Music.

MILLERSBURG—Harvey Herman, 71, former music teacher, composer and author, who went into seclusion and lived as a hermit after the death of his wife eight years ago, was found dead yesterday in his cabin four miles southwest of here.

The body was found by a neighbor who had heard Mr. Herman was in failing health and went to the cabin to visit him. Death apparently was caused by heart disease.

Mr. Herman had spent two years writing a book on wild life which was nearly completed when he died.

Born in Wayne county in January, 1867, he taught piano in New York City for 30 years. Since the death of his wife, Mrs. August Sheppard Herman, in 1930, he had lived alone in his cabin. He visited Millersburg only two or three times a year to purchase supplies.

He is survived by a brother, Eli of Millersburg, and a sister, Mrs. Lewis Strempfler of New York City.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Elliott Funeral home in Millersburg with Rev. D. M. Haynes of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in the Fryburg cemetery in eastern Holmes county.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Look at Monroe Doctrine Reveals a Few Problems Ahead of Your Uncle Sam

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—It would be a pious idea to take out a copy of the Monroe Doctrine and read it again by the red glare of the Franco-Italian trouble.

The people of this country would then discover that a principle which Americans have regarded as a protection against intrusion in this hemisphere by the ever-warring and insatiable nations of the Old World puts it up to Americans to protect the British and French possessions of the proscribed area.

To be sure, there is an emergency exit by which this nation could escape a fight with Italy and Germany in defense of the French and British islands off our coast, French and British Guiana and British Honduras. But would we use it?

Probably not, because these outposts in the hands of their present owners are harmless to us in the long-accustomed state of our relations, but in the possession of Italy and Germany would be guns pressed against our ribs by warlike powers which hate the United States and its form of government.

The Monroe Doctrine says that "the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintain, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European powers."

Obviously, the French and British outposts in this half of the world, and at that time Cuba, had not assumed a free and independent condition, and the French and British colonies have not done so yet. These were exceptions, but there is an implied promise by this country to prevent the capture or conveyance of these possessions, and if war comes between Italy and France as a starter, spreading, perhaps, to Germany and Britain, who would have the greatest interest in defending them?

In the event of their capture by the nations of the axis or their cession to those nations by the terms of the peace Italy and Germany assuredly would colonize them, and not only that but would fortify them, garrison them and create bases for bombers and submarines and propaganda in a zone of the world where this country has been, and for its own good, must continue to be unchallenged.

In this manner, then, the United States, by a doctrine which expressly shuns wars between European powers as being none of our affair, becomes a military ally of France and Britain in a certain zone of operations. Italy and Germany, weighing the consequence, might decide to let these possessions alone to avoid provocation to the United States and leave their distribution to the peace conference, at which time, if they won, they might feel strong enough to challenge us for them direct, with Japan to help them on the west.

But in any case, if the Franco-Italian war comes, these French and British colonies, so close to the United States and such convenient stepping-stones to Latin America, where the Monroe Doctrine applies with full effect, cannot be permitted to fall into Italian or German hands.

"We owe it to candor to declare that any attempt to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere is dangerous to our peace and safety," the Monroe Doctrine says. "With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we shall not interfere."

The "system" which the United States undertook to exclude as dangerous to our peace and safety was not Nazi-Fascism but, like Nazi-Fascism, it was "essentially different from that of America," to the defense of which "This whole nation is devoted." There have been a couple of trifle irregularities on this country's part in the observance of the doctrine, notably when we did interfere with the existing colonies of Spain and did intrude in a war between European powers.

Still even these lapses will not be deemed to have abrogated the main purpose of the Monroe Doctrine, to prevent intrusion and colonization by European powers in this hemisphere after 1823, and the introduction of a system dangerous to our peace and safety. The toleration of a Nazi-Fascist stronghold in Nassau, for example, hardly more than an hour by plane from Miami, would destroy the Monroe Doctrine utterly and threaten the American system of government "achieved by the loss of so much blood and treasure and matured by the wisdom" of the most enlightened citizens.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—John Barrymore, the star of "The Great Man Votes," didn't. . . . He was too busy starring in "The Great Man Votes." . . . Never has voted in his life, besides.

Hollywood ought to quit kidding itself about these "trial separations." . . . Bette Davis' was latest to go the way of all such, with husband Harmon asking the divorce. . . . Why this departure from the conventional design for parting? Why "Ham" instead of Bette? "Because he wants the divorce," said Bette, shortly. . . . And more and more, the evidence piles up that the marriage-plus-career idea doesn't work—especially when it's the wife that has the fame. . . . All of it, I mean.

"Ziegfeld Girls" are being heard from—and loudly—now that a movie called "Ziegfeld Girl" is under way. . . . And if you've wondered why so many women claim to be Ziegfeld Girls, then William Anthony McGuire has the answer. Bill, who is preparing the movie script, figures that at least 250,000 girls over the country can call themselves that. . . . And here's how: Ziegfeld produced four or five Broadway musical shows a year between 1907 and 1932, with 75 to 150 girls in each show. . . . Add to these one or two road companies, with more girls, for most of these shows, and then add the daughters of all these girls, and—well, by my figures you'd get only 56,250 at most . . . But McGuire probably expects all Ziegfeld girls to have five daughters, like Eddie Cantor, which would put the total over 250,000.

AVIATOR MARION McKEEN, pilot and technical assistant on "Tailspin," has taught many movie people to fly—and says they make good students "because they have open, receptive minds." . . . Says his best pupil is Henry King, the director, and his most reckless is probably Charlie Farrell, who took over the controls of a ship after only four hours of instruction and began to do things that added quite a few gray hairs to McKeen's crop.

Romance travels a rocky road in Hollywood—and so do romantic relics. . . . In the heyday of their devotion, Joan Crawford presented Doug Fairbanks, jr., with a private portable dressing room. . . . After their marriage cracked, Doug forgot about it—and after a while Paul Muni bought it, moved it to his valley "ranch" and transformed it into a combination study and make-up room. . . . Joan's sentimental gift is the place where Muni tries on beards—or did until he leased the house and moved oceanwards.

BOB HOPE'S face (irreverent as it may seem of me) always makes me think of the Man in the Moon—in profile.

Herbert Wilcox, the British producer is here with Star Anna Neagle, talking up a proposed English-American movie, the cast to star Hollywood and English names, the film to be shot partly here, partly in England.

Irene Dunne figures it cost her $300,000 to wait for Leo McCarey as her director in "Love Affair." . . . Meaning she turned down that much in movie jobs until McCarey and a story came along.

Joan Blondell and Claudette Colbert did their Christmas shopping early . . . Joan Crawford thinks Christmas cards are a waste of money, donates sum to charity instead . . . Norma Shearer wires hers . . . And Shirley Temple's artistic presentation of Santa Claus—on the movie relief fund card—looks like the colony's best seller this year.

Sports, Elks Vie In Headline City League Game Tonight

By CHARLES MARTIN

BASKETEERS of the undefeated Elks Lodge quintet will be offered an opportunity of annexing at least a share of the first round championship in the City Class A league when the circuit presents a pair of interesting games at Mansfield high tonight.

Jerry King's dangerous combine waltzed through the opening game in impressive fashion, and tonight faces the touted Yuncker Sports in the initial attraction at 7:30 o'clock. The second feature or. the bill tosses Earl Herrick's Hi-Speeds against the Westinghouse Electric machine.

The Lodgemen, who finished in second place in last year's race, can win the first round title outright by taking the next two games, but whether they are capable of handling the situation against the array of talent in the city's premier loop, remains to be seen.

King's men will also be out to square accounts with the team that last season placed the only blots on their record.

Two of the mainstays of last year's champion Yuncker club, Tom Farrell and Jack Miner, have joined the Elks Lodge ranks and victory hopes practically rest on their shoulders. Farrell, a great rebound expert, won the 1937-38 City league individual scoring title, and will have to be stopped tonight if the Yuncker team expects to win

Jimmy Breres' Sports are out to protect a 11-game winning streak in the City league and will be at full strength for the important tussle. Breres has Johnny Reece and LaVerne Gray, a couple of brilliant sharpshooters, to toss against the Elks in an effort to win and grab a share of the crown.

With the return of Harry Ross and George Bosko to the lineup, the Westinghouse team's victory prospects jump several notches in its melee with the Hi-Speeds.

The two City league veterans were not available last week when the Electrics bowed to the Elks, but Manager George Percy believes they will supply the needed scoring power to chalk up a win.

Herrick's cagers, throttled somewhat in their opening game which they dropped to the Sports, by lack of reserve strength, will have a full squad on hand for the game.

Gene Brandon and Bob Fisher, a pair of high-scoring guards, who would have aided the team in its initial appearance, will no doubt draw starting assignments as the club seeks its first City league triumph.

Both clubs will be "shooting the works" in an effort to come through on top. Either team possesses a slight chance of sharing the crown.

If the winner of the Hi-Speed-Westinghouse mixup should meet the victor of the opening game, it has a chance of grabbing a chunk of the title by winning next week.

AWARD FOR ODDEST INCIDENT OF GRID SEASON BELONGS TO W. VA. BACK STAR.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

WHO deserves the annual award of a fur-lined nose guard for the season's oddest gridiron performance?

A candidate who deserves recognition in the balloting is Referee John Getchell, who told the Carnegie Tech quarterback it was [illegible] in the Notre Dame game when it was, in fact, fourth down. But the luckless arbiter merely qualifies as the season's "goat."

Another official who must be considered is the fellow who handled the William & Mary and Richmond University game. A pony, William & Mary's mascot, trotted on the field during play, and the referee slapped a 15-yard penalty on W. & M. But Richmond declined the penalty to save the official from much embarrassment.

Then there is Coach Jimmy Phelan of Washington, who suffered a mental lapse in the final game with Washington State. He rushed in all of his seniors in the closing minute of play and discovered too late that he had sent a 157-pound quarterback in at guard.

Dick Favor, a second-stringer with Oklahoma, saw nothing odd in the fact that he kicked a 70-yard field goal during practice. "I just gave it a good, hard boot," he explained.

In a Buckeye conference game, Cincinnati made 18 first downs to Marshall's one. Yet, Marshall won, 27 to 9.

For that matter, Navy outgained every major opponent to which it lost or was tied, but was outgained by Columbia, the only major team it defeated.

The Ohio State squad, which refused to report for practice before the final Michigan game because Tackle Frank Smith had been booted off the team by Coach Schmidt, might also qualify. It seems Smith had cracked Co-Capt. Carl Kaplanoff of Bucyrus on the nose in an argument over who should keep the ball with which the Buckeyes had beaten Illinois. The squad won and Smith got into the final game.

But the Associated Press rules that the award for the oddest performance belongs to a nameless but spirited member of the West Virginia university backfield. The dream-like quality of the tableau at Morgantown finally swayed the A-P judges.

The nomination was made by members of the Michigan State squad, who, like all others were asked by the A-P to name their goofiest memory of the season.

They told it thus, dazedly. "When a West Virginia backfield player in our game at Morgantown apparently overheard a derogatory remark from the stands, he raced off the field during play, dashed into the stands in search of his critic, swatted him, took a poke at a policeman on his way back, and continued play without remark."

Cleveland Plans Night Baseball.

THE important man in baseball today was Zeke Bonura, hippopotamus-like first baseman who'll wear the spangles of the New York Giants next season.

Bonura's importance isn't derived from his size or the fact that he'll play for the Giants in 1939 but the fact that he is the key man in a deal which supposedly swung the American league in favor of night baseball.

The best information in baseball circles is that Cleveland, according to the United Press, the last club to withdraw waivers on Bonura, released its claim to the man they couldn't use anyway in return for Washington's vote for night baseball. When the Indians, who want to play seven nocturnal games in Cleveland's municipal stadium with its seating capacity of 78,000, waived on Bonura, they obtained the fifth vote necessary to swing the deal.

Other clubs voting for night ball reportedly were the Browns, Athletics and White Sox.

SPONSORS FOOTBALL

DETROIT—(AP)—De Sales college of Toledo will sponsor football next fall, officials of the school announced yesterday at a meeting of the Michigan-Ontario collegiate conference.

SCORES 24 POINTS

Chuck Chukovitz, Toledo's scoring ace, jumped off to a satisfactory start in his point making Saturday night when he tallied 24 in the Rockets' 36 to 30 victory over Hillsdale.

Meet Hamilton In Opener Here

N. C. O. Race Opens This Week; County Teams Continue Title Battle.

MANSFIELD high hoopsters turned back to the practice court today to prepare for what stacks up as one of their toughest assignments on their schedule.

The Tygers, sporting a record of one victory and one defeat, engage Hamilton at the Mansfield athletic plant Friday night in their first home appearance.

New Rule Hurts.

Coach Russ Murphy's men trimmed Shelby, 29 to 13, in the inaugural, but dropped a 38 to 37 overtime decision to Cleveland West last week. The new "sudden death" rule, which gives the first team to score two points in the overtime the victory, cost the Tygers the Cleveland game.

While the Mansfield game will headline the high school schedule in this vicinity, a heavy card of frays is billed for court followers hereabouts.

The last of the leagues in this vicinity to pry off the lid will be the N. C. O. conference Friday night. The openers take Ashland to Shelby, Marion to Bucyrus and Galion to Mt. Vernon.

Four County league contests are on the bill, with Madison and Lucas the only members not seeing championship play. The Rams play their only game this week at Crestline Tuesday night. Lucas goes to Perrysville Friday.

The Friday league games find Butler at Bellville and Ontario at Lexington. Bellville performs at Union Saturday.

Play On Road.

Shiloh goes to New Haven and Plymouth to Attica in the Twin-Valley league affrays this weekend. Crestline, which stacks up as one of the stronger Class B clubs in the vicinity, meets Fostoria St. Wendelin in addition to Madison this week.

Giants Trim Packers In Pro League Playoff

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK —(AP)— Professional football patterns its game to the customers' wishes. The customers want wide open football with plenty of scoring. No better case for both the customers and the pros could have been presented than yesterday's National league championship playoff, in which the New York Giants beat the Green Bay Packers, 23-17.

It was a gaudy, giddy and altogether glamorous demonstration of just how football should be played. It presented two tough, hardbitten sets of linemen working ahead of two squads of driving ball carriers, deadly blockers and passers whose accuracy would have convinced Annie Oakley she was strictly a bush leaguer.

It also was a fine testimonial to pro football's sponsors and to Giant Coach Steve Owen: to the sponsors because 48,120 spectators, a new playoff record, paid $68,331.80 into the Polo grounds till to see the game; to Owen because the Giants' well-known triumph topped off a rebuilding campaign begun two years ago when he scrapped most of his veterans in favor of young bloods.

Having proved the best defensive team in the league during the regular season, the Giants were expected to play for the breaks. Actually they made them, blocking two kicks and recovering a fumble to set up a field goal and the first two touchdowns. Then they showed they also could put on a sustained drive by marching 61 yards to the winning score. That was made on Ed Danowski's second touchdown pass, after a field goal had given Green Bay a short-lived 17-16 lead.

Bogantz Gives Sohioans Win in Late Minutes.

The Henry Sohioans and Ontario Ex-Hys opened their seasons auspiciously on the Ontario high court Saturday night. The Sohioans, led by Bob Bogantz' 19 points, defeated the Earl Dairys of Marion, 39 to 35, and the Ex-Hys whipped the Blue Goose Sohioans, 24 to 22, Elliott's basket winning the latter game in an overtime.

In the main game, the Sohioans trailed Marion by four points with only two minutes to go, but Bogantz scored three times from the field in hurried order to give the Ontario the win. Howard Patterson's defensive play was a feature of the game.

Bernie Berens, former Ohio U. star, who was advertised as a member of the Marion club, did not appear.

Silent Rattan In Main Bout

Slated to Meet Stratton at Armory Friday.

Everett "Silent" Rattan, deaf-mute from Toledo, will meet Walter Stratton of Leetonia, in the featured attraction of Friday's wrestling card in the Armory. Officials of the Quality Club answered local demand in booking the match, for Rattan's victory over Gorilla Poggi last week has skyrocketed the silent one in popularity.

Stratton, perhaps, is the most dangerous opponent yet selected for Rattan. A former weight lifter and one of the strongest men in the light-heavyweight division, Walter is an able match for most any matman. His great strength has repeatedly brought him victory over the so-called "clever" grapplers.

Stratton started his career like a boy in an Alger story. He took a course in weight-lifting, from a correspondence school, spending long hours in the execution of prescribed exercises. His success was truly amazing, for he now holds several world records.

At least one more mat attraction will be added to the program and Matchmaker Tim Nolan is contemplating the addition of a pair of boxing matches.

CHAPTER 20

"We'll be singing in the spring-time,
We'll be singing in the fall,
We'll be singing all the year round
Be-cause Rice conquers all-l-l-l!
We'll be marching on the gridiron,
running, fighting, tearing through;
Victory is our goal line—
All hail the gray and blu-u-u-ue!"

They reached a high note on the fine "blu-u-u-ue" and ended the song in a burst of exhuberant shouting. The words may have been exaggerated a bit, but the tune was fast and swingy. "EE-YEA-A-A-A--ho YOW!" exploded the yell leader, and bedlam shook the dance hall.

The orchestra didn't have a chance against the mass vocal competition. The waltz therefore evaporated, while the brasses swelled into blaring accompaniment of the singers. The crowd had just about forgotten dancing, anyway, and had gone in for impromptu fun. Somebody shoved Sara Sue Davis into the center of the circle, and she obligingly sang the second stanza alone, leading the crowd back in on the chorus.

Blue-and-gray balloons that had boiled in air fountains all evening were released now. Green paper streamers speared the air from every direction—green for freshmen. Cellophane bags were distributed, their glistening beauty enhanced not by conventional confetti, but refrigerated rose petals to be used as such. Not only was the great ballroom a melange of color and action, therefore, but the hilarity was further heightened by delightful fresh rose perfume. The freshmen had, indeed, "gone to town" in staging their ball."

Dr. Thornton Holgate had edged out of the lounge in rather a pitiable state. First he had stared at Peaches—had held out a hand as if in supplication. No doubt, too, he did stare owl-eyed at her, as she drunkenly informed the drunk young man who was her companion. She had offered him a drink from the young man's bottle, but Thornton had only stared—owl-eyed.

When Peaches and her man began a silly simpering at each other, Thornton Holgate could only turn and move away, dazed. This was an experience utterly foreign to him. He knew, of course, that some young people drank and caroused. He had read — but discounted — reports of ribaldry in college, but he had never been exposed to any. He did not countenance intoxication, ever. He could have forgiven Peaches if she had slapped him, or spit on him. But to be drunk—

He hastened out onto the main ball floor.

"We'll be singing in the spring-time,
We'll be singing in the fall—"

Happiness there was in crescendo, obviously. Had he been in analytical mood he would have discerned American youth en mass at its gayest. He would have known that they, not the lamentable minority given to dissipation, represented the nation's real strength.

But etched on his mind at the moment was the silly, half-leering, simpering face of Peaches Pomeroy, its animation sagged by alcohol, its makeup spoiled by neglect. Dr. Holgate was devastated. He sought to push through the throng toward a door. Unfortunately, Sara Sue Davis spied him.

"THORNY!"

She shrieked above the bedlam. He turned and saw her, and felt hysteria seize him. He knew that Sara Sue, loyal tutor, would not understand his feelings now, but would try to make him one of the gang. It was a laudable endeavor, one that he had earnestly sought, but at this particular moment—

"THORNY! Come and sing! Thorny Holgate! Bring him in, boys—Dr. Holgate has a marvelous baritone!"

"Holgate, Holgate, Holgate, Holgate, Holgate, Holgate, we want Holgate!" Some of the frog-voiced freshmen began a chanting, more joining, until the attention of the entire room was centered on him Sara Sue had come to his side now.

"Thorny, come on!" she commanded, sweetly reproving, smiling in good fellowship.

Then all at once she saw the misery, the utter terror in his eyes.

"I can't—I CAN'T!" His voice was a rasping, a sob. Tears glistened in his eyes.

Sara Sue, not understanding, nevertheless saw his condition. "Why, Thorny—!"

She would have sympathized, offered help, anything. But he ducked then and plowed his way on through He almost ran through the door, down the beautiful stairway to the ground floor of the hotel, and out into the street, forgetting entirely his coat and hat checked upstairs. He sank into a taxicab as if recoiling from some grave danger.

No greater cruelties have been inflicted on mankind than those unintentionally given. No men have suffered more than the gentle, emotional souls who are by birth keyed to high sensitivity.

Thornton Holgate would have passed at casual glance for a neman anywhere. He had excellent health His prowess as a swimmer had been a source of mild pride to him He played good tennis on occasions. But the good qualities in Thornton Holgate were not surface ones alone. Inside him was a spiritual grandeur which few persons, not even he, himself, had ever suspected. His mother had known it—she had seen to it that his education was the best posible. One or two of the profesors he had encountered as a student had discovered it. But few others had been privileged to know him intimately.

In the solitude of the taxicab he, of course, calmed down. Embarrassment still lingered; but, he reasoned, correctly, he had actually done nothing that would cast shame or slight on him More poignant in his heart was the hurt there. It not only lingered, it grew.

He went to his room in faculty tower, removed his nice clothes and relaxed in a lounging robe. Even though it was now past 1 a. m., he had no thought of sleep. His ordered mind was no longer in frenzy, but he had much thinking to do. A veritable montage of pictures formed in it—Sara Sue and Peaches and balloons and orchestra leaders and Peaches and trombones and rose petals and jumbled faces and Sara Sue. Peaches' bleary, sickening face; Sara Sue's lovely, quizzical, sympathetic eyes.

He did not want to read, did not try. He had two hundred or more books at hand. Some priceless volumes on mathematics. A dozen or more, favorites, in Italian. Several in German, Dr. Holgate had never found foreign languages difficult. And there, too, were some of the classics of literature. Macaulay's Essays. Tartarin de Tarascon. Stevenson's Vailima Letters. The Bible. Mackail's Latin Literature. Schiller and Addison and Maurois and Mark Twain and Thoreau and Poe and Lawrence.

STOCKS SWING FORWARD AFTER QUIET OPENING

Drying Up of Tax Selling, Improved Business Outlook Stimulate Market.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and motors led the stock market on a forward jaunt today.

The list got off to a quiet start but demand expanded moderately later. Gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed near the second hour.

In front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, General Electric, and Great Northern. Utilities and oils were narrow.

Drying up of year-end tax selling in the past week, improved business prospects and lessening of foreign tensions, brokers said, did much to swing the pendulum to the recovery side.

Bonds generally tilted upward. Commodities did better. Foreign securities markets exhibited indefinite trends.

Market analysts found a little cheer in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that steel production was offering strong resistance to the quieting influence of the approaching year-end.

Although new business in this field is somewhat slower, it was added, the normal let-down in activity prior to the usual holiday slump is expected to be relatively moderate.

Automobile and railroad buying was seen as a hopeful factor, with the recent improvement in carrier earnings enhancing transportation equipment prospects.

association. She was a member of the First Christian church and the church orchestra.

Besides her parents, she is survived by three sisters, Maxine, Naomi and Beverly, all at home and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Zediker of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at Wappner's Funeral home with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

In another accident at 6:25 a. m. today, Mrs. Dean Smith, 148 Wood street, was injured when the machine she was driving collided with a car operated by C. L. Weithman of Bucyrus at West Fourth street and Bowman street.

Mrs. Smith was taken to the hospital in an ambulance where she was treated for a knee injury.

In traffic accidents throughout the state over the week-end 13 persons were killed.

The automobile in which Hart, a member of the Preble county board of education, and Davis were riding, crashed into a Pennsylvania freight train. Sale and White were burned fatally when the truck overturned and caught fire.

'ZERO HOUR' SET FOR TROOP DRIVE

Franco To Launch Big Drive In Eastern Spain.

HENDAYE, FRENCH-SPANISH FRONTIER—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish nationalist leader, has set Thursday as the zero hour for an offensive in eastern Spain in an effort to break the Loyalist resistance, it was reported along the border today.

It was said that Franco was landing Moroccan troops on the south Spanish coast, intending to use them as shock troops. Preparations for the battle proceeded on a scale that foretold major fighting.

Dispatches indicated that Lerida, on the Catalonian border, would mark the center of a 30-mile front for the nationalist drive.

SEEK RATE RENEWAL

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Steam railroads operating in Ohio asked the state utilities commission today for permission to continue increased rates on bituminous coal in intrastate traffic after the expiration date on Dec. 31.

Local Lady Was So Nervous Couldn't Sleep At Night

Well known Mansfield lady also suffered with terrible pains in limbs, indigestion, dizzy spells, all due to faulty elimination and weak kidney action. Praises Vendol highly for wonderful relief.

MRS. IRENE NEWTON

"I was in such a nervous and unstrung condition that I was miserable," stated Mrs. Irene Newton of 140 N. Diamond St., when she recently visited the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store and told him of the wonderful relief Vendol had given her.

"Every night I would lay awake for hours, trying to get to sleep, then if I was fortunate enough to dose off for a little while, I would have to get up to relieve my kidneys. This broken rest kept me feeling so tired all the time that my strength was leaving me.

"My indigestion gave me a lot of trouble too for there was hardly a meal I ate, no matter how small, but what my food would turn sour, and hot burning acid risings would rift up in my throat. There would be so much gas form that my heart would palpitate and this all helped to make my nerves even worse. I suffered all the time from headaches, dizzy spells and spots before my eyes, and there were pains in my limbs that many days I felt I could hardly get my work done.

"I just felt so bad in every way I didn't think any medicine could do me much good, but I kept reading in the papers of other Mansfield people finding relief from these same troubles, so decided to give Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets a trial, and after the first week I could notice the improvement. This treatment went right at the cause of my troubles by first relieving constipation and giving thorough elimination, also acting as a diuretic to my kidneys.

"My nerves have calmed down wonderfully, sleep is restful and I'm not called up at night as I was before. My digestion is stronger and am able to eat many things I had denied myself before, with no after distress. Headaches, dizzy spells, spots before my eyes, have been relieved, and I feel stronger and better in every way, thanks to this splendid medicine."

Why not let Vendol help you too? See the Vendol Man who is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., and let him explain just how this famous medicine will relieve your troubles. There is no charge, so see him today.

NAZI VICTORY STIRS ALARM

France, Britain in Demands for Reassurances After Memel Elections.

qualified voters went to the polls.

On the heels of the election, the Lithuanian government at Kaunas, the capital, issued an extraordinary decree amounting almost to martial law for the Kaunas area "for protection of the state."

President Antanas Smetona explained that the decree of "state emergency" was necessary because activity on the part of the extreme right opposition might be used on behalf of a foreign country, therefore endangering Lithuania's integrity.

Students' anti-Semitic demonstrations yesterday in Kaunas, whither many Jews fled from Memel, may have been responsible for the decree.

Germany's March to East, Reality Now.

LONDON —(INS)— Germany's march to the east has been transformed from talk into reality.

As a result of the overwhelming Nazi victory in the Memel elections, responsible observers today were reconciled that Chancellor Hitler will be able to announce return of Memel to the Reich when the Reichstag meets in Germany. This is expected in spite of earlier assertions by Hitler that he does not want Memel.

Lithuania, as possessor of Memel, is seen as menaced, but she is expected to profit by the experience of Czechoslovakia and submit to becoming a vassal state within the German orbit without a fight.

Well-informed quarters do not expect any third power to resist Memel's incorporation within Germany, or to assist Lithuania.

THEATERS

Short and long of it . . . Lew Fields, comedian, is turning back the clock 27 years and re-enacting scenes from his own colorful life in "The Castles" . . . for one of the scenes in a railroad coach in the production "Union Pacific" the man in charge of adjusting the focus on the camera was forced to hang head down in order to perform his duties while the camera was suspended in midair . . . Claudette Colbert, Francis Lederer, Mary Astor and Rex O'Malley provide laughs on the set of "Midnight" because they're supposed to be puttting over some subtle dialogue while playing bridge . . . and, not a one of them plays the game.

Breezy Romance.

When a spoiled daughter of wealth, Merle Oberon, meets a dashing rodeo rider, Gary Cooper, a romance is the likely result. Such is the story of "The Cowboy and the Lady" playing now at the Ohio. A supporting cast including Patsy Kelly and Walter Brennan makes a comedy of this breezy romance of when east meets west.

All In Color.

The beauties of wood, field and stream are shown in natural color in "Heart of the North" which tells the heroic story of the Canadian Mounties. This picture, which is showing at the Madison, stars Dick Foran and Gale Page. Gloria Dickson and Allen Jenkins also share the important roles of this tale of robbery and romance in the Canadian Rockies.

Professor Lloyd.

Cast as a professor who takes very seriously a prophecy regarding some ancient Egyptian tablets which he owns, Harold Lloyd in "Professor Beware" which is on the double-bill at the New Ritz, capers through some exciting and amusing adventures. Wary of love, Lloyd makes an attempt to escape from the girl who adores him, but, finally is ensnared by the clever Phyllis Welch. The second feature is "Three Blind Mice."

Lochinvar of West.

Roy Rogers and Mary Hart are the stars of "Come On Ranger" now showing with "100 Men and a Girl" at the Park. The firm is a story of outlaw gangs, murder and love on the Texas plains in which the forces of law and order finally prevail. Deanna Durbin is the star of the other movie.

Funny Complications.

Plenty of complications set in when Charles Ruggles as a prospective bridegroom is forced by a group of office companions to spend a night with Gypsy, Marion Martin, so that his romance with Ona Munson may be broken up. The film, "His Exciting Night," is being shown along with "Secrets of a Nurse" at the Majestic. The Jones family is "Down on the Farm," and Kay Francis and Ian Hunter in "Comet Over Broadway" open Tuesday.

ARCH SWINDLER DEAD IN PRISON

of her $104,000. A wealthy Washington, D. C., newspaper owner and society women, she was deeply touched by the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh, jr. Means went to her with a story of being in touch with the kidnapers who were willing to surrender the baby to him for $100,000. She gave him the money plus $4,000 for expenses and he conducted a party to Aiken, S. C., for the payoff. The kidnapers, of course, didn't appear and he sent Mrs. McLean on a wild goose chase to El Paso. Then he asked her for $35,000 and she started the proceedings which ended in his conviction in May, 1933, when he was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment and fined $10,000.

Much of the Means legend came from Means himself and, as he was a pathological liar, the record of his indictments is the only trustworthy record of his career. These began in 1914 when he was charged with swindling an insurance company of $4,000. In 1917, he was handling the million-dollar estate of Mrs. Maude King, a Chicago widow. Mrs. King was killed at a moonlight target shooting party in North Carolina and he was charged with murdering her. It developed that she was planning to marry again, that this would eliminate him as her "financial advisor," but he said it was an accident and a jury in his native state believed him. Her lawyers charged later that he had looted her of a half million and a court ruled that he had forged a "second" will of her first husband, but nothing ever came of it.

Next he wrapped a piece of wood in heavy brown paper, insured it for a gold brick, expressed it to himself, then tried to collect $57,000. This failed. Meanwhile, he had been attempting for years to get himself appointed an agent of the federal department of justice and in 1921 he succeeded Two years later he provided a major scandal of the Harding administration. It developed that he and his accomplices had accepted bribes totaling $65,000, that they had opened government warehouses to bootleggers, profiting $100,000 thereby, that they had shaken down a Chicago bootlegger for $75,000, and that they had attempted to bribe four of his high superiors. For this, he served four years in Atlanta federal penitentiary.

He was released in 1928 and in 1930 published his book, "The Strange Death of President Harding" in which he inferred that Harding had not died a natural death, but had been poisoned. He became a violent anti-Communist and authorities next found him in a lucrative job "protecting" a wealthy New York society woman and her daughter from "red agents." For this service, he was said to have persuaded his client to part with $100,000.

PLAN CHECK OF MEN NAMED IN GIRL'S STORY

City, County Officials to Push Inquiry Resulting From Delinquency Case.

—Activities of several married men whom a 16-year-old high school girl named Saturday as associating with school girls at noon and after school will be investigated this week by city and county officers.

Harry Copper, assistant county probation officer, who took a two-page statement from the girl in connection with a delinquency case last week, said that the men named by her as well as several of the girls would be questioned within the next few days.

Copper said he planned to question the girls activities in connection with their "running around" with married men.

Meet at Nooms.

The girl's statements said that the men had been meeting the students, all minor at noons and after school and had been taking them for automobile rides.

Copper said the investigation also would concern the activities of the girl's frequenting liquor and beer establishments where it was alleged they had been served drinks. Two of the places in question, according to the officer, are in Mansfield. Two other is outside the city limits.

On some occasions the statement said, the girls went to liquor establishments where they had been met by their men friends

The girl is expected to be brought before Judge C. J. Anderson in juvenile court "sometime" this week when her statement will be presented to Anderson for further questioning, Copper said.

Board to Meet Tonight on Plans For Simpson High

The Mansfield board of education is scheduled to meet tonight to approve architects' specifications for the new John Simpson Junior high school and draw up a request for bids on construction of the building.

Supt. W. L. Miller said advertising for bids probably will start tomorrow, with bids to be opened Jan. 11. Construction is scheduled to begin Jan. 20.

The John Simpson school is the last unit in the city's $1,000,000 building program for which contractors' bids are to be asked. Plans for the building were drawn by Vernon Redding and Associates, Mansfield architects.

The school board will open bids Friday on razing of the old John Simpson building and remodeling eight of the city's elementary buildings.

Donahey Confers With President On Ohio Political Status.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt and Senator Vic Donahey (D) Ohio, conferred at the White House today, presumably on how the Democrats may best mend their battered political fences in the Buckeye state

All Donahey would say following the conference was that the "political situation in Ohio in relation to the recent election results" was discussed.

ACCUSED PAROLE VIOLATOR JAILED

Shiloh Man, Arrested at Home by Deputy Sheriffs.

Arrested yesterday at his home in Shiloh, John Oney, 45, was held in the county jail today for violation of his probation.

Oney, who deputy sheriffs said was intoxicated when they arrested him, was placed on probation for three years in November, 1937, after he pleaded guilty in common pleas court to an indictment for threatening to wound or kill.

Intoxication constituted violation of his probation, Harry Crouse, county probation officer, said. Oney was arrested by Deputies Glenn Freeman and J. R. Hetler. He will be held in jail pending the return of Judge C. H. Huston from Elyria where he is presiding at a trial.

DELAYS ACTION IN THEFT CASE

Judge Says Stories of Youth, Held as Confessed Purse Snatcher, Conflict.

When a 16-year-old colored youth, who had confessed to a series of purse snatchings in Mansfield, contradicted himself several times in juvenile court this morning, Judge C. J. Anderson continued the case to permit officers to obtain information from authorities at Olean, N. Y., the youth's former home.

Judge Anderson said the boy, who signed a three-page confession of the snatchings after his arrest Saturday, related that he served a short term in a New York industrial school for stealing cigarets.

"His statements, even as to his age, were confused, and we want to learn more about his record before disposing of the case," Judge Anderson said

The boy said he came to Mansfield with his father only three weeks ago from Marion and snatched purses from three women and girls on Mansfield streets during Thanksgiving week

One of the victims, Mrs. Nellie Staiger, 37 Glessner avenue, was slugged in the face when she refused to give the youth her purse containing $100.

The youth told Judge Anderson the slugging was "an accident."

Police Identification Officer E. C. Fuller and Harry Copper, assistant county probation officer, arrested the youth after observing his activities for 10 days.

DEBATE BRITISH, AMERICAN PACT

Shelby Team Argue Question at Meeting of Youth Forum.

The question of British-American relationships was debated by two teams from Shelby high school at the weekly meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum last night at the First Congregational church.

"Resolved That the United States Should Form An Alliance With Great Britain," was the subject debated. Students taking part were Sally VanHorn and Eleanor Wentz, affirmative, and Raymond Zeiters and William Daugherty, negative. C. M. Schindler, instructor of public speaking at Shelby high school, was in charge of the program.

The devotional service was led by Mary Maxwell, Mary Ann Ferguson and Maxine Williams. Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church, will be the speaker at next week's forum meeting. The subject for discussion will be "Who Makes Up My Mind?"

MOTION ASKING DISMISSAL OF BRIBE CHARGE BEFORE HUSTON

Judge C. H. Huston of Mansfield, presiding at the trial of former Sheriff William F. Grall of Lorain county by special assignment, was to rule this afternoon on a defense motion for dismissal of a briberf indictment against the former sheriff.

The trial opened today at Elyria with Prosecutor Howard Butler charging that Grall accepted about $50 per month from Mrs. Maxine Barbour, alias "Penny" Morgan, alleged operator of a house of ill repute.

Judge Huston is hearing the case for Judge Guy B. Findley of Lorain county common pleas court who stepped aside after the defense counsel filed an affidavit of prejudice.

Henry G. King, attorney for Grall, made the motion for dismissal today, arguing that the former sheriff had been granted immunity from prosecution when he testified before the grand jury in an earlier slot machine investigation.

Prosecutor Butler contended the immunity covered only the matters about which Grall testified Grall admitted he had received more than $3,000 to "protect" slot machines. He did not testify about vice.

Butler, in his opening statement today, charged the sheriff received from Mrs Maxine Barbour alias Penny Morgan, $25 a week for each of the girls operating in Mrs Barbour's house. Usually, Butler said, there were two girls

Mrs Barbour, indicted with Grall, has not been apprehended Grall suspended after his slot machine testimony, resigned when the vice bribery indictment was returned

A jury of nine women and three men was selected in the opening hours of the trial.

REVEALS FIRM'S MONOPOLY ON HIGH SPEED GLASS PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON — (UP) — F. G. Smith, president of the Hartford Empire Co. of Hartford, Conn testified before the monopoly investigating committee today that his company holds a monopoly on patents for a type of high speed production of glass containers.

Smith was the first witness as the exectuive-congressional committee turned its inquiry to the glass industry to study the effect of patent control on competitive conditions.

Prefacing this phase of the broad study of America's economic structure, Hugh B. Cox, special assistant to the attorney general, said that in studying glass patents, the justice department seeks to disclose the relationship of patent laws to enforcement of anti-trust laws.

Smith testified his firm control patents on the so-called "Gob" type of glass container production—a high-speed, mass production process.

"Isn't it true" Cox asked, "that if a man wanted to go into the glass container business and wanted an automatic feeder your company would be the only place in the country he could go?"

"If he wanted to go into business and use 'GOB' feeding he would have to come to Hartford," Smith replied. He added that such a business man could use old methods or buy into an established business.

"Yours and the Owens-Illionis are the only two that are available, aren't they?" asked Cox.

"The only two that are most economical," Smith said

Smith testified that about 65 or 67 per cent of the glass container output in 1937 was under Hartford-Empire license and that about 90 per cent of his corporation's income came from royalties.

CHURCH STAND MADE CLEAR

Cardinal Mundelein Declares Utterances of Coughlin Not Those of Church.

CHICAGO—Through George Cardinal Mundelein, the Catholic church today washed its hands of any part in the radio broadcasts made by Father Charles E. Coughlin.

A statement from the cardinal to that effect was delivered over a nationwide network yesterday

It was emphasized that any utterances of the Detroit "radio priest" do not represent the sentiments or doctrines of the church

The announcement was made over the National Broadcasting company's chain by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of the Chicago diocese, who stated:

"His eminence George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, having been importuned by news commentators and correspondents from every section of the country in reference to the broadcasts of Father Coughlin of Detroit, makes the following statement:

"'As an American citizen, Father Coughlin has the right to express his personal views on current events, but he is not authorized to speak for the Catholic church nor does he represent the doctrine or sentiments of the church'."

Although Father Coughlin's parish lies outside the Chicago archdiocese and is therefore not under Cardinal Mundelein's direct supervision, the statement was nevertheless believe to be of a semi-official nature.

COUGHLIN IN REPLY

ROYAL OAK, Mich—(INS)—The offices of Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin today issued the following statement regarding the declaration of George Cardinal Mundelein that Father Coughlin is not authorized to speak for the Catholic church·

"Father Coughlin is in agreement with the cardinal when he says Father Coughlin does not speak for the Catholic church. No priest speaks for the whole church, no bishop speaks for the whole church, and no cardinal speaks for the whole church

"Only the pope speaks for the whole church"

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S EARNINGS TO GO TO CHARITY WITH TAX PAID

(Copyright, 1938, United Press)

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today that she would pay income tax this year on all money she has earned for charity.

Despite a treasury ruling that income from her work for organized charities was tax exempt if paid directly to the charity involved, Mrs. Roosevelt said that she had decided to receive all the money, pay the tax and give the balance to charity. Her conclusion, she said, was based on her own interpretation of "the spirit of the income tax laws."

"On reading the law," she said, "I came to the conclusion that the work I do is more nearly of the type that should be classed as what one would do to earn a living rather than as 'benefit performances'

"I made up my mind that on all future contracts, I would have all the money come to me, and then give it away as I wish, after paying taxes. I have had no contracts this year which would require payment to anybody but me."

The income from Mrs. Roosevelt's lectures and writing always has gone directly to her and been included in her tax payments. Only radio contracts prior to 1938 stipulated that the money go to charity direct.

Under those radio contracts—one with a shoe company and the other with a cosmetic manufacturer—Mrs. Roosevelt received $1, and some $30,000 under each contract went to the American Friends Service committee of Philadelphia, Pa., a Quaker organization engaged in health, educational, and rehabilitation work in "under privileges areas" of the United States and other countries.

It was the contracts for the benefit of the Friends committee that were assailed by Rep. Fish, (R., N. Y.) in July, 1937. Fish, congressman from the Roosevelt's Hyde Park district, described them as "a smart little scheme" to avoid income tax payments. His charge was made during congressional investigation, at the president's request, of loop-holes in the income tax structure.

HEARS FLOOD DISTRICT SUIT

Wooster Judge on Bench as Action Over Township Property Opens.

With Common Pleas Judge Walter J. Mougey of Wayne county on the bench, trial of a Muskingum Conservancy district land suit opened today in Richland county common pleas court.

A special jury will determine the amount the conservancy district must pay Mrs. Viola Boals for a flood easement on 74 acres of land in Weller township. She refused to accept the district's offer.

Judge Mougey has presided at several previous conservancy trials here because Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston is a member of the district conservancy board and ineligible to hear the suits.

Since Judge Huston is presiding at the bribery trial of former Sheriff William F. Grall of Lorain county, the conservancy trial is the only one scheduled in Richland county common pleas court this week.

Attys. Lewis Bruck and Reed and Beach represent Mrs. Boals at the trial, and Atty. John C. O'Donnel is the Mansfield counsel for the conservancy district.

ILL IN WHEELING

Word was received here today by Mr. and Mrs. William Zeller, 188 East Fourth street, of the serious illness of their son-in-law, Paul Sonnefeld in Ohio Valley hospital, Wheeling, W. Va. Mrs. Sonnefeld is the former Miss Margaret Zeller of Mansfield.

PARKING METER REPORT AWAITED

Junior Association of Commerce to Make Recommendations.

Francis R. O'Brien, president of the Mansfield Junior Association of Commerce, said he expected a report tonight from a committee of four members of the association who went to Zanesville Saturday to study that city's parking meter system.

O'Brien said the four committeemen, two of whom favor parking meters for Mansfield and two oppose them, would be asked to make recommendations to the Junior Association of Commerce. The organization then will act on the recommendations and submit a resolution to city council, either favoring or opposing the parking meter plan here.

Making the trip to Zanesville were Ben Goodenough, chairman of the committee; Robert Finical, Robert Frye and George Schuchmann.

DR. BLACK GETS A THIRD TERM

Dr. R. R. Black, senior member of the Mansfield board of health whose term expired today was reappointed for a five-year term by Mayor Claude M. Hunter.

It will be Dr. Black's third successive term on the board. He was first appointed in 1927 by Arliss Porter, then mayor, to serve two months of an unexpired term of one of the members. In 1928 he was re-appointed by the late Charles S. Moore and after five years was appointed again in 1933 by Mayor Charles T. Lantz.

Other members of the board are Dr. K. E. Buhr, whose term expires in 1939, Glenn Bierly 1940, J. H. Gongwer 1941, and Emil Aderman, 1942.

REFUSES LATEST PLEA OF MOONEY

Supreme Court Rule Against Habeas Corpus Writ.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The supreme court today denied the motion of Thomas J. Mooney, widely known labor prisoner, for an original writ of habeas corpus so that it can determine whether he is imprisoned in San Quentin prison unconstitutionally.

Mooney's motion followed four previous unsuccessful efforts to persuade the high court to hear his case.

Counsel for Mooney had termed the petition as his "final appeal to the conscience of the court."

STARTS MEDICAL INSURANCE PLAN

The plan, conceived and sponsored by the state medical association, is directed at 80 per cent tor Utah's half-million persons—those whose incomes are $2,000 a year or less.

RAZZLE-DAZZLE RACE SEEN FOR CHICAGO MAYOR

No Hats Fly Yet But Both Parties Begin Grooming Top Notch Candidates.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes will announce "sometime between Tuesday and Thursday" his future political intentions—whether he will remain in his cabinet post or enter Chicago's mayoralty race—it was announced today.

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO—A mayoral razzle-dazzle which promises to rival highspots of the unforgetable "smack King George" campaign of 1926 was rolling up in Chicago today.

Though not a single candidatae has sailed a derby into the ring, the political speculators have been working overtime and are confidently predicting a cloud of toppers before the lists close Jan. 19.

Standouts in the early guessing about entries are the present mayor, Edward J. Kelly, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, and William Hale Thompson, a former Republican holder of the office who contributed the slogan "Keep King George out of America" in his successful bid a dozen years ago.

There have been delegations from local groups daily to urge Mayor Kelly's announcement; wires have been hot with Ickes' daily thought on the idea, and his supporters say the former mayor will speak out this week. But the aspirants can't enter for the primary until January 4 and all reported under consideration have shied away from premature formal statements.

Look For Hectic Races.

Citizens, however, are looking forward to a real hippodrome both before the primary, Feb. 28, when the parties will select their candidates, and the municipal balloting on April 4.

They are already lining up Kelly, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and perhaps Ickes in the Democratic nomination battle. It would be an old grudge fight in the case of Kelly and Courtney. They have been on opposite sides in all the Kelly-Nash-Gov. Henry Horner factional sluggings. National Committeeman Patrick Nash is Kelly's ally. Courtney went into the Cook county prosecutorship in 1932 on a promise to clean out the gangsters and his own policemen have been busy for months demolishing gamblers' handbook joints.

Republicans who don't like the Thompson candidacy have been mentioning a lot of names prominent locally and nationally, including Dwight H. Greene, the young federal prosecutor who imprisoned Al Capone; and Charles S. Dewey, a cousin of New York's Prosecutor Thomas Dewey and a strong though unsuccessful contender last month for a congressional seat.

They want a ripsnortin' campaigner, for they recognize Thompson's showmanship talents are extraordinary. He was the cowboy mayor in his first successful campaign in 1915, demanded freedom for Ireland in his 1919 win, and his threat to punch the late King George of England on the snoot was a boast heard 'round the world when he triumphed the third time.

National political eyes also are on the Chicago race for 1939 for political sages concede that the chief executives of the greater cities now may rank with governors as contenders for the presidency. That gives added importance to the coming battle.

Just when the medical profession found ways to prolong life the automobile came along to counteract the effect.

When a New York crowd boos Mayor LaGuardia and cheers Mussolini it's time to check up on the heating unit of the melting pot.

According to the Dayton News: "The question of bookmakers in Dayton has never been a queston of gambling. It has been a question of graft"—which shows that Dayton is not unlike other cities.

More Traffic Officers Needed.

WHILE smaller cities, such as Mansfield, have advantages that should not be overlooked, it is the larger cities that have the advantage of more adequate policing, and are therefore better able to enforce traffic regulations.

Mansfield is woefully short on patrolmen available for traffic duty, even during periods of greatest congestion at busy intersections. The result is that double-parking and other offenses pass without reprimand or penalty and frequent traffic snarls occur which could be prevented if an efficient patrolman was on duty in the vicinity.

Entirely aside from the problem of limited parking space in the business district, an argument favorable to the proposed installation of parking meters is that revenues from these devices would probably be sufficient to pay several additional patrolmen needed for traffic duty.

In view of the fact that motor vehicles create existing traffic problems it seems not unfair that those who enjoy this convenience should also meet the cost of extra policing made necessary in order to provide reasonably safe driving conditions on city streets.

Court Holds Candy Is Food.

THE state tax commission is in disagreement with a Summit county court of appeals decision that candy is a food, and is therefore exempt from retail sales tax

The appellate court upheld a similar common pleas court decision in an Akron case and the tax commission takes the position that a state supreme court ruling must be awaited before vendors will be permitted to sell candy without collecting the sales tax.

It would appear, however, that as least within the jurisdiction of the court of appeals in which Summit county is included, the decision handed down by this court would become operative pending appeal of the issue to the supreme court.

In reality, it is disclosed, a considerable number of candy vendors over the state, including some in Mansfield, have not been collecting sales tax on candy during the several months since the common pleas court decision in the Akron case.

Disinclination of the tax commission to relinquish any source of sales tax revenue is understandable. But that candy can be rightfully classed as a food seems obvious.

Enlightened Industry.

IT IS INTERESTING and reassuring to find so prominent and powerful a leader as Edward R Stettinius, jr., chairman of the United States Steel board, saying this:

> "No longer can industry plow a single furrow toward a strictly commercial objective. Instead it must manage its affairs with a due regard to the whole field of human relations. Industry must strive to adjust its operations to the highest purposes of life."

A few years ago such an utterance might have been regarded as an absurd outburst of "impractical idealism." Now many a hard-headed business man and keen observer of current life takes it seriously. "There are still some business leaders who do not realize that the hard-boiled stuff is outmoded," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "but fortunately the Stettinius idea is gaining ground. There is an increased number of big business leaders who know that some things are more important than profits."

Or it might be put just a little differently: Big business leaders are coming to believe that unless modern business adjusts its operations with a view to the general welfare, there will be no profits.

Preparation for Citizenship.

THE children of today are as fine, is not finer, than those of previous generations," says President A. D. Henderson of Antioch college a unique institution whose students spend half the time earning their own living. But "they lack training for life, and particularly for citizenship in a democracy."

By the usual "mass education" system, he thinks, the children tend to lose their individuality, initiative and self-reliance.

The young people should be trained, he insists, not only to make a living, but for effective citizenship, and to this end they should have first-hand experience in governmental problems.

They cannot develop into good Americans, he adds, if they are sheltered from a knowledge of socialism, communism, and so on. They should know about the "isms" in order, by contrast, to understand their democracy and better appreciate it.

Misuse of Patent Protection.

THE senate monopoly committee has been considering patents and raising the question whether the American patent policy is wise.

A patent is by its very nature a monopoly, a special privilege authorized by the government. Our patent system has been based on the idea that this privilege, by protecting inventors and enabling them to profit by their devices, encourages invention and in the long run is good for us all.

Some now insist that patents, when granted at all, should protect the inventors or the purchasers of inventions for a much shorter time than has been customary. They base this contention on the charge that too many patents are unused, or are monopolized by business corporations that restrict their use and deprive society of the full benefit of them. It is even charged that useful inventions are often bought up for the sole purpose of suppressing them and preventing wholesome competition.

This is a complex question, about which more may be learned as the inquiry proceeds.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It is getting so a man can hardly blow away the smoke from a cigaret without finding himself engaged in (or affecting) interstate commerce.

So broad is the scope of the supreme court decision in the case of Consolidated Edison company of New York against the national labor relations board that a whole new scanning of the horizon of federal regulation seems likely.

Consolidated Edison is a tremendous power company in point of the number of kilowatts of energy it shoots along its network of wires and cables. Nevertheless, it operates in New York State almost (but not quite) to the exclusion of all other territory.

It sells power to city docks, to railroads and to enterprises which operate the tunnels operating under the Hudson, connecting New Jersey with New York. At no point does it transmit power under its own control outside of New York State. It sells a very small portion to companies which in turn use it in interstate commerce.

Emphasis on 'Affecting.'

NOW the national labor relations act provides, roughly, that federal regulations of labor bargaining shall apply to companies engaged in interstate commerce, or whose business "affects" interstate commerce. Under this act, the labor board claimed authority over the relationship between Consolidated Edison and its 40,000 employes. It is agreed that none of the Edison employes engages in interstate commerce. But the labor board contended that sale by the firm of a small portion of its power to companies which use it in interstate commerce brought Edison under federal jurisdiction. The board held that in event of labor trouble a power shut-down would "affect" interstate commerce.

The supreme court agreed.

In the nearest recent approach to this decision the court upheld the labor board in its contention that a California fruit company which shipped 35 per cent of its fruit in interstate commerce was directly subject to the labor act. Now it reaches out to extend the act to a company which of itself does not engage in interstate commerce, but simply sells its product to those who do.

In explaining this case, the court pointed out that a labor strike would leave the docks without lights, thus "affecting" not only interstate commerce, but foreign commerce as well.

Moreover, it pointed out that a radio station uses the power, and in event of a shutdown the radio broadcast across state lines also would be affected.

Could Apply to Coal.

TWO years ago the court upset the Guffey coal production control act by asserting that the industry was local, not national, in character. What now is to offset an argument that coal mining is in interstate commerce because coal is sold to companies which engage in interstate commerce? That is one of the possibilities.

The court has veered about within two years to a course that vastly broadened federal control over such matters as labor and industrial conditions. In the Consolidated Edison decision a member of the court for the first time gave some recognition of the change. In his dissent, Justice Butler rather forlornly referred to "the period" when the court was deciding another way, and he was one of the majority instead of the present slim minority constituted by himself and Justice McReynolds.

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C. HILL

YOU can't keep a good dog out of the news. At a Park avenue fashion show, pajamas and rubbers for the pooch are exhibited, modeled by dog mannikins. It may be a long time before they get around to the underprivileged of dogdom, but the fashion czars make it clear that you're a pretty poor specimen of a citizen unless little Fifi's wardrobs is stocked with the proper nightgear—all the better if it's by Lanvin or Schiaparelli.

The other item has to do with chicken dinners for dogs. Government-inspected chickens are used in a new brand of dog provender, with a dash of beef by-products, cod-liver oil, minerals and tomatoes. Dogs are said to eat it dutifully, even zestfully.

ALL in all, a dog's life isn't so bad these days. Many experiments are being made in new kinds of dog food, one of them being the use of the soy bean, high in protein, as a substitute for the cheaper brands of meat. It is reported that it is highly successful and many dog dieticians, or dieticians who prescribe for dogs, to be more exact, are recommending it.

A Washington politician tried to fan up an election issue over dog food a couple of years ago. He said, and it seemed to be true, that many thousands of sovereign citizens, bucking the depression, had found that dog food gave them much more nourishment for their money than the usual run of groceries. That sounded bad—people eating dog food, but, today, it would stir more envy than horror. It may get to a point where politicians will stir sympathy for unhappy dogs who can get nothing better than roast beef and T-bone steak.

NEVER did the food business, serving man and beast, get such a going over as now. As the old song had it, "they fed the baby garlic so they could find him in the dark." Now, not only garlic, but it's remote relative, the onion, are found to have all sorts of curative properties, and whatever they feed the baby or his grand-pappy is cunningly devised for his health and well-being.

The onion, for instance, is credited with having knocked out rheumatism and arthritis in Italy, where it has been extensively eaten in spots where there was little else at hand. They find that the fragrance of the onion has germicidal properties, and that it may be helpful in curing cold. This useful property rests in something called thioaldehyde, which nature implants in the onion to enable it to resist the "smut" disease.

JUST as the Germans did two years ago, the imitative Japanese start a national build-up for whale steak by an imposing public function at which prominent citizens acted as come-ons and shillers for the multitude and manifested great gustatory delight in stowing away a big slab of Leviathan.

Both nations are at work on big sea-going whale-catching and rendering plants, while Japan works up a series of "national policy lunches" to start a public clamor for such refreshment. We have "Moby Dick" as testimony that whale meat may be eaten, but we never got in the way of demand it at the family butcher shop—just stick-in-the-muds compared with up-and-coming nations like Germany and Japan. To these countries, a man-size slab of tenderloin, or a round or pork chops spells "decadent parliamentarianism."

YULETIDE always stirs interest in varied and zestful eating. This particular winter solstice finds in full swing a food revolution in the progress of the "quick-freezing" method. The volume of packaged fish produced in the United States between 1929 and 1936 increased from 82,711,150 pounds to 121,484,365 and the curve is still going up. Food-packaging is changing, progressing and proliferating bewilderingly.

This is one of the best oyster crops in years, thanks to the abundant rains, sluicing down food to the oyster beds. Incidentally, an oyster crop takes four years, to harvest time, starting with the "seed crop." The starfish and the drill, their ancient enemies, prey on them relentlessly, but now the growers find a way to knock out their foes by slaked lime, and little old homo sapiens scores another point against adversity. Looking at his long list of victories, one doesn't wonder that he gets a bit chesty and starts rigging pajamas for his dog.

Quintuplets Being Studied.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I AM in receipt of a book called "The Five Sisters," by Dr William E. Blatz, who is professor of child psychology at the University of Toronto. The five sisters are none other than the Dionne quintuplets, and Dr. Blatz has described in detail the method of training which has been used with them.

He points out that this is a unique opportunity in the chance to condition human development. Many points are very interesting. For instance, we have a notation that isolation is the sole consequence of unacceptable behavior, and a picture of little Marie alone in a room being punished for some naughtiness. Fear has never been used as a method of discipline and none of the sisters is supposed to know what fear is.

Taught to Reciprocate.

They are taught to reciprocate in social relations, and Marie rolls the ball to Emilie, and Emilie rolls the ball to Marie. They share each other's toys, and, according to the doctor, there is minimum amount of the usual friction that goes with this. They are often deliberately placed in positions where they will have to work out what each of the five will do in such a thing as dancing a minuet or playing a game.

The conclusion is reached that the quintuplets are of the kind of twinning known as identical. Identical twins have many peculiar anatomical points. If we compare the four hands of a set of twins we find that the left hand of the one twin is more like the left hand of the other twin than it is like his own right hand. Marie and Cecile have left hands that agree; Yvonne and Annette have left hands that agree, and Emilie is similar to both sets.

Start Off the Same.

Here we have, then, five human beings starting with exactly the same sort of biologic background. The question of whether heredity or environment is the more important will some day be definitely settled in this case. In all aspects of their life, careful records are being kept as to how they respond, to what degree they are obedient, how they respond to play, how much initiative they have and so forth.

Experienced practitioners are here using the best methods of the very most modern ideas of psychology in child training. I wonder how they will turn out.

Young America Says—

Oldsters Are "A Nation of Cry-Babies"

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

GETTING a bit gray above the ears? Leaning a little heavier when you climb the stairs? Then that makes two of us, partner . . . you 'n' I.

You and I, remembering so many things these modern youngsters have never known—poor tykes! Happiness, for one thing. Remember how happy we were, as kids, back in the 80's and 90's? Happy even though we wore rags, when others didn't ...'n' raked lawns...'n' went without fancy vacations and college educations like the luckier kids...

Shabby poor...cold bedrooms, coarse food, hazardous chores, starting our destiny on a shoe string. That's how we hit the trail in the 80's and 90's, wasn't it? With many an hour of bitter disappointment and passionate revolt.

And yet, in spite of it all, we were happy! In spite of it all, we woke with eagerness...stars in our eyes, a song in our hearts and the thunder of marching feet in our adventuring blood! Happy! Eager! Alive! We boast of all that today—you and I. Boast as if we—those long-ago young selves—had been responsible for it all. But were we? Did WE, of our own determination, make that joy and eagerness? OR WAS IT IN THE AIR?

It was in the air. Our fathers, and their fathers before them, had put it in the air. It was part of that Vision which had made America in 1775...part of that Faith and Courage and deliberate Pride which had carried that Vision on. It had become the basic but unconscious atmosphere of the American spirit. And we youngsters, born in that atmosphere, breathed in and lived that eagerness, courage and pride as naturally as flowers breathe in the sun.

We were BRAVE because our parents were brave...We were eager and hopeful because our parents were eager and hopeful. We were joyously contented and passionately ambitious BECAUSE IT WAS AMERICAN TO BE BOTH CONTENTED AND AMBITIOUS. WE WERE THAT KIND OF GALLANT NATION.

But today? Look around, today. Look at these discontented young faces, these resentful, frustrated young spirits. Why is Young America this way in 1938 when it was happy and eager in 1888? It isn't because these young people have rags. We had rags. It isn't because their future is precarious. Ours was precarious. But there is one thing which WE had which these youngsters do not have—

WE HAD BRAVE PARENTS ...DELIBERATELY EAGER AND PROUD AND JOYOUS PARENTS.

AND THEY HAVE A CROWD OF CRY-BABIES!

That, at least, is Young America's answer—as voice by their typical "mouthpiece"—19-year-old Max Struckey of Valparaiso, Ind. Listen—

"The American people, especially the oldsters, are becoming a nation of 'chronic complainers.' Every professional or business man you talk to immediately complains about money being scarce and how difficult it is to make a living. Factory workers and shop clerks are no different; they, too, complain about trying to get along on a hand-to-mouth existence.

"NEVERTHELESS, WHILE ONLY SEVEN OUT OF EVERY 100 PEOPLE IN THE WORLD LIVE IN THE UNITED STATES, WE HAVE 35 PER CENT OF ALL RAILROAD, 45 PER CENT OF ALL RADIOS, AND 50 PER CENT OF ALL THE TELEPHONES. THIS SHOWS DEFINITELY THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE WELL OFF AND DON'T KNOW IT.

"If anyone doubts that, let them look into the theaters and night clubs. Both are filled to capacity nightly. Our country roads are filled with autos, and it is impossible to find parking space in downtown districts unless you go to a parking lot—and sometimes even these are filled.

"WE AMERICANS ENJOY MANY THINGS WE HAVE COME TO REGARD AS NECESSITIES WHICH OTHER NATIONS CONSIDER LUXURIES, AND WE ARE LIVING TODAY AN EASY LIFE THAT ONCE WAS ONLY FOR THE PRIVILEGED FEW.

"Let's remember our good fortune and once in a while say 'Thank God, I am an American living in the 20th century!'"

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The voice on the other end of the wire said: "Will you jump into a cab and come over here right away?. I'm in suite 1818."

It was Charlie Rochester talking, managing director of the Lexington hotel.

"Sure," I told him, "right away."

His voice sounded urgent. I thought maybe a fire had broken out, or that his dog had jumped out the window. I thought maybe a Mahatma or a Maharajah had checked in from the Orient and he wanted to give me a good story. I thought of all this and a lot of other things as the cab curved into 46th street, crossed Park avenue, and turned into Lexington avenue.

IT WAS in this preplexed frame of mind that I stepped out of the elevator and rang at 1818. There was a stir inside, and the door was opened by a man I had never seen. I saw three or four other men wholly unknown to me, and then Charlie came away from a telephone and said: "Now, son, don't get excited. You look as though you expected to find a snake charmer here. Take off your coat and shake hands with Stephen Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion."

I took the commander by the hand. I shook hands with Ray Murphy, past N. C. of the Legion, and Vic McKinzey, national convention director of the Legion. I shook hands with Ed Seay, who is an aide of the national commander.

"Well?" I said.

"Well, sit down," said Charlie. "Once you told me you were a Louisiana duck hunter and that you liked duck. We're going to eat duck. Wild duck. A friend of mine sent me some ducks from up-state. Here, take a look."

THEN the chef came in with four of the most beautiful fowl I have ever seen. They were baked a deep golden brown. Their wings, feathers intact, were attached so that they looked like a mouth-watering yet beautiful study in wild-life realism, or maybe I mean surrealism.

They were steaming bowls of wild rice, and pineapple rings with candied chestnuts. There were cranberries and hot biscuits, and corn muffins with golden butter, and some other things which I paid no attention to because that was getting too far from the duck. There was burgundy, and of course black coffee.

Why am I writing this? Perhaps for the same reason a sourdough yells yippee-e-e when he strikes gold. I only know that wild ducks to me is the epitome of all things good to eat. You can have pheasant and lobster and all the rest... just leave me the duck.

I forgot to mention that I had just completed lunch when this telephone call came. I fancied myself uncomfortably full. But wild duck on a platter within arm's reach cancels, for me, all previous gastronomic excursions. I suppose I am addicted to gluttony. That is one of the seven deadly sins. But who gives a hang? The gout hasn't got me yet.

Recently a noted chef announced that the public was losing its taste for wild game. That isn't true. The public quite naturally knows less about game, now that the market hunters have been kicked out, than it ever has before. But if you talk with the real connoisseurs, the people who hunt and understand game, you'll find that they are more appreciative than ever.

A Farmer's Diary

The Fire In the Clearing.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I TOOK the two older children with me to the woods to trim up buzz wood. They were delighted, for it was snowing, and I had promised to help them make a fire.

They gathered dry leaves and small sticks from under the sheltering trees, and we rolled two sections of knotty trunks together, and built the fire between them Soon the blaze was leaping above the gnarled back log, and the children laughed and shouted as they dragged the pieces of brush away from my busy ax, and heaped them higher and higher upon the flames.

The trimmed-up limbs I stood on end around a low tree, until we had a gigantic teepee, with a constantly widening base. As I dragged the heavy sticks along the uneven floor, I caught the fragrance of the virgin soil and leafy mould beneath the snow. It smelled like the first welcome tang of spring. I stooped so low that I got some of the dirt upon my face; even when I wiped it off, the lovely odor still remained.

We worked until we were tired and hungry. But when early supper was over, and I had rested, my wife went with me back across the field to the little clearing. Before we reached the spot, we saw the blue smoke rising, and knew that a generous, friendly bed of coals awaited our return.

We gathered brush and fine dry twigs, and soon the early twilight was pierced by ruddy flames. I cut some logs in two, while she threw more wood upon the fire. When darkness made my work too hazardous, I joined her beside the glowing logs.

The snow was still falling, gently, in almost utter silence. The trees and brush, white laden, came to the very margin of the fire. We stood in silence with the glow upon our faces. The great thick wall of darkness closed around. Occasionally sharp sputtering of the burning wood was followed by showers of upward sparks.

We watched until all that was left was shimmering coals, with short, blue, graceful flames playing over the under sides of the two charred logs.

We felt the spell of the fire, and without a word, drew closer together within the circle of warmth. So has man watched his fire since the dawn of time.

We carried the pleasant odor of wood smoke upon our clothes, even into the house, and felt the refreshing touch of silent conversation.

If your children keep coming down with nasty little colds all winter, use Vicks VapoRub these three simple ways.

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.

GIBSONBURG CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Luella Schwan, Paul Thatcher Married in Bride's Home City Sunday Afternoon; to Make Home in Mansfield.

USING her grandmother's wedding ring for the double ring ceremony, Miss Luella Schwan and Paul Thatcher were united in marriage at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. N. F. Milheim. The bride's attendants and the flower girl were all attired in dresses cut floor length, with full bodices and full puff sleeves. They wore gold lockets, the gifts of the bride, with their formal costumes.

Miss Schwan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schwan, Gibsonburg, wore a satin dress made on princess lines. The long sleeves ended in a point over her hands, and the yoke was made of lace with circlings of pearls as trimming. A pearl clip was attached at the neck. The high-necked dress ended in a yard and a half train, and a finger-tip veil made cap style had a pearl crown to match decorations of the dress. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses.

Sister Attends.

The bride was attended by Mrs. John Bunts, Crystal River, Fla., her sister, who served as matron of honor. Mrs. Bunts wore a royal blue transparent velvet gown with a square neckline. Mrs. G. A. Schwan and Mrs. C. F. Schwan, Port Clinton, were the other two attendants. The bridesmaid from Port Clinton wore a deep green dress, and Mrs. Schwan wore wine. They carried Talisman roses tied in white. Mrs. Bunts carried a similar bouquet.

Carol Lou Schwan, wearing a yellow crepe dress, served as flower girl. Raymond Lambert was best man, and C. F. Schwan, Port Clinton, and James Gill were the ushers.

Married in Gibsonburg.

The First English Lutheran church at Gibsonburg, where the ceremony was performed, was decorated with smilax and poinsettas. The long row of pews was tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. H. Lindemann, Woodville, cousin of the bride, served as organist. Among her selections were "Awakening Song Without Words" by Engleman, "Chorus of Angels," Gilletti's "A Memory," "A Melody" by Matthews, "Andante in G" by Stults, and the traditional wedding marches.

After the wedding a buffet supper was served to 50 guests with Miss Helen Stuhldreher and Miss Viola Fulmer pouring. The bride's mother appeared in a gown of old rose with black accessories and a corsage of violets and Talisman roses. In the evening the group danced at Rainbow Gardens.

The former Miss Schwan, who had made her home in Mansfield at 9 Flint street, was employed at the Swan Cleaners. Her husband, who is the son of Harold Thatcher, Rochester, Pa., and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Gainesville, Fla., attended Urbana Junior college. He is now employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher will be at home at the Flint street address to friends.

Quiet Ceremony Unites Couple Saturday Evening

A quiet ceremony read at 6 p. m. Saturday at the home of Rev. Turner Holt, Shenandoah, united in marriage Miss Jean E. Dunlap, daughter of E. P. Dunlap, 373 North Mulberry street, and Vernon Milligan, North Main street road.

The bride wore a teal blue street dress for the informal service. Mr. and Mrs. Milligan were attended by the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Buckley.

Forty guests were entertained at a reception at the Milligan home yesterday, and a shower of gifts was presented to the bride. The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, and Mr. Milligan has assisted his father in the operation of their farm. The couple will be at home on North Main street road.

Gift Ideas For Everybody In Family

Christmas gifts and Christmas clothes are colorful this year. Miss Six Year Old (left) wears a pale blue wool bolero frock linechecked in deep blue to match the ribbon tied 'round her curls. Blue flannel and white batiste make her older sister's suspender frock. Mother in rose cashmere jersey.

Scores of the gifts which will hang on glittering Christmas trees this year are made to do double duty.

Sewing boxes are filled with bonbons which can be replaced with needles and thread when the last sweet has been swallowed. Compacts have combs slipped through a narrow band in their tops. Brooches come apart to become twin clips. Men's traveling brushes have tops that open to reveal a comb, toothbrush and paste, while silver pencils have calendars rolled into a slot at the side.

But there are many other gifts that cling to one bright idea. Here are gift tips for the whole family gleaned from hundreds of shop counters to answer the Christmas question of "What to give?":

FOR MOTHER — White porcelain twin figures for the living room mantel. A new handbag—a deep calf pouch with a handle or a suede muff bag with a purse in the top. Bath salts and powder in a gay painted wooden box which she can use for trinkets later. A silver Victorian locket swinging from a silver chain. A quilted satin "wedge pillow" to slip back of her neck and add comfort to the hours when she lies down to rest and read. Satin boxes to hold her stockings and handkerchiefs.

FOR FATHER—A silver belt buckle engraved with his initials. A time engagement pad with a clockface in the center to help him keep his appointments. A rack filled with poker chips marked with his initials in gold. Birthstone cuff links. A new pipe lighter. A silver newspaper holder, if he insists on having the news with his breakfast. One of those leather carry-all cases into which he can toss his toilet articles when he goes traveling. To make a real hit, fine white linen handkerchiefs embroidered with his monogram.

FOR SISTER—A charm bracelet strung with miniature figures—elephants, airplanes and such. A Christmas bell of transparent plastic filled with multicolored powder puffs. A gold perfume flask for her purse. An evening scarf of sheer chiffon embroidered with glittering paillettes to wear when she steps out to the holiday parties. A back-look mirror she can hang around her neck when she wants to know how her coiffure looks from the rear. Velvet mules with tinkling bells on the toes.

FOR BROTHER—Pigskin cuff links for school and sports. A vacuum kit equipped with bottles and cups for his hunting and fishing days. A lighted swivel mirror to facilitate his early morning shave. A windbreaker for winter sports. One of the new pipe lighters. A brush for his tweeds.

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

When Miss Elizabeth Booze entertained members of the Belles club at her home on Bowman street recently, the group decided to go caroling during the week before Christmas. Miss Margaret Hawkes and Miss Mildred Hildenbrand were prize winners. Refreshments were served later in the evening at a large table centered with seasonal flowers. Miss Ruth Asbury has invited the club to her home on West Fourth street for the next meeting, Jan. 3.

ENTERTAINS CLUB.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Meet 'Em All club was held recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Ammons on Sixth avenue. Card games were in play at two tables, and the high score prizes were won by Mrs. W. G. Stringfellow, Mrs. Harry Bunton, and Mrs. William Berry. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Orock, Orange street, on Dec. 23.

BELTS FOR NECKS

PARIS—(AP)—Many of the new leather belts close with a leather thong tied in a small, neat bow. Vera Borea is using inch-wide leather belts that go twice around the waist and then tie. Double chic is achieved when the idea is repeated at the neck. A sports dress in wine red wool is "belted" twice-around at neck and waist, with wine red leather.

The group, which is sponsored by the Cottage Garden club, held a Christmas session with Marjorie and Jean Wentz, West Fourth street.

"How to Decorate for Christmas" was the title of the demonstration lecture given by Mrs. A. C. Tuttle, and Jean Wentz gave "How Christmas Is Celebrated in Other Countries." Contest winners were Helen Buchan and Barbara Shively. A holiday luncheon was served by Mrs. Sherman Wentz, assisted by Mrs. H. D. Smith, Mrs. J. R. Alexander, and Mrs. E. L. Robertson.

Mrs. F. A. Greenwood, leader of the group, was presented with a plant by the club.

MANSFIELD COUPLE MARRIED SATURDAY

Miss Joan Martin Becomes Bride of Jacob Herf in Home Ceremony; Rev. James L. Boyer Officiated.

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Joan Martin and Jacob Herf was solemnized Saturday at 5 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. James L. Boyer, pastor of the First United Brethren church. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Martin, 58 Glessner avenue, was given in marriage by her father.

An improvised altar was banked with flowers and palms, and lighted by seven-branch candelabra. The couple was attended by Mrs. Margaret Miller and Matts Herf. Miss Martin wore a gown of pink lace with finger-tip length veil held in place by gardenias. With this costume she wore a corsage of gardenias, rosebuds and sweet peas.

Her attendant wore taupe satin with a corsage of roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Martin appeared in a wine costume wearing roses, sweet peas and lilies-of-the-valley while the bridegroom's mother was attired in pinted silk crepe with a corsage of rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the wedding party and guests. The table was decorated with a three-tier wedding cake and lighted white tapers.

Friends and relatives were entertained at a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Herf will make their home with the bride's parents until after the first of the year. Mr. Herf is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Herf, 99 Spring street.

RED CROSS SEWS.

Mrs. John Pierce was chairman for the luncheon meeting of the Red Cross Sewing club when Mrs. W. J. Locke, 102 Sherman avenue, entertained eight members. There were 36 pieces of sewing done.

Ruth Marie Smith Has Party Sunday Afternoon

Thirteen young friends were in attendance yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. L. J. Smith, 644 West Fourth street, gave a surprise party for her daughter, Ruth Marie, in honor of her thirteenth birthday. The group played games during the afternoon, and later presented the honoree with many gifts.

Mrs. Smith served luncheon, buffet style, from a table centered with a large birthday cake. The cake was attractively decorated with a small Christmas tree and red candles. Each guest was given an individual cake, also centered with a tiny green fir tree.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THE "why" of the recent visits Charles Hatch, former Mansfielder who now resides in Springfield, has been making to this city has been explained. . . . Ruth Workman is wearing in public the ring he gave her not so very long ago.

* * *

Do you know that the book for kiddies by Munro Leaf entitled "Ferdinand, the Bull" ranks first in sales at a local book shop? "The Bull" has even nosed out "Horse and Buggy Days" by Arthur E. Hertzler and Margaret Halsey's "With Malice Toward Some" by a slight margin . . . and it's not only the youngsters who will find Ferdinand in their stocking Christmas morning . . . if they're good. father and the boy friend might rate him too.

* * *

Peg Black is genuinely excited about the prospect of her first big boat trip . . . especially since the destination is Bermuda . . . but she's even more thrilled at the length of her combined train and boat ticket . . . there'll hardly be room for it all in one purse. Peg is sailing on Dec. 23 to spend the Christmas holidays with friends in Hamilton, Bermuda. The friends are Millicent and Howard Kehout, who until three months ago were residents of Mansfield.

* * *

WHEN you're dancing to the rhythm of Leo Reichert's orchestra at the Leland next Saturday, members of the Tri Gam sorority, who are sponsoring this Christmas dance, hope you'll enjoy the music . . . the girls put a great deal of effort into finding just the right band and turned down several suggestions before making a final choice . . . they say it's quite a trick to sell tickets to a dance even before the orchestra is hired.

* * *

It's a small world—at least that's what Mary (Phelps) Campbell has discovered while apartment hunting in Madison, Wis. To Mary's surprise, two other Mansfielders are already living there . . . Katie Beverstock, who teaches school there, and Jean (Gorman) Glassner, whose husband attends law school at the University of Wisconsin. Mary plans to move to Madison in January, when she will join her husband, Charlie, who has been working there for the past several months.

* * *

Betty (Angie) Fox stepped off the train from Milford, Conn. last week and right into an amazing lot of fun! It's Betty's first visit home in over a year, and she looks more stunning than ever. To set off her dark hair and complexion, Betty wears a dubonnet coat trimmed in skunk fur, which circles the collar and extends to the hem . . . a perky matching hat completes this ensemble. Peg Black and members of the Beta chapter of the Tri Gam sorority entertained for Betty with bridge and dinner parties, respectively . . . the dinner was at Virginia Chew's home on Highland avenue.

Lack of Love Cause of Misfits

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

If you are given to pluming yourself because you've brought up a family, and they've kept out of trouble, are self-supporting and generally regarded as decent citizens, please don't imagine you've done your entire duty as a parent.

Dr. C. H. Gundry, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, has gone on record as saying that the liars, swindlers, malingerers and people who are just about two laps ahead of the law are that way because they had a "loveless childhood."

Continuing, Dr. Gundry says: "If parents are too poorly developed to expend love, if they really do not want their children, or if their children are brought up without parents or satisfactory substitutes, it's as if the children were deprived of a sort of emotional vitamin.

"They are apt to remain immature, to fail to develop stable, robust characters. Never being identified with a family group, it's hard for them to fit into a large social group. Being cheated out of love, they may try to gain attention in unwholesome ways."

Children are queer little people; they have the same craving to love and be loved that is an essential of normal adult life Not always do they know how to get it. They hang round waiting for a word of approval or a caress, and when it's not forthcoming, suffer and make the best of it in their own way. But it leaves scars.

The world is full of unsympathetic parents And the pity of it is that these parents, who are too busy to stop and win the confidence of their children, have no idea of what they're building up

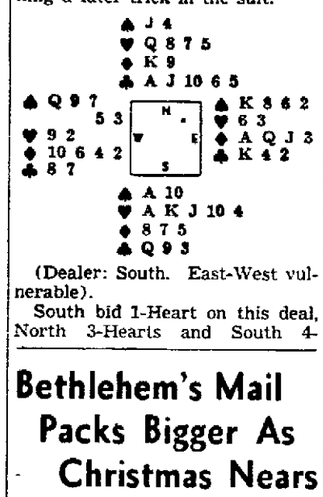
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

PICK YOUR SPOTS

SOMETIMES YOU CAN afford to let East win a trick, but don't dare let West get in the lead, for fear that he will lead through some tenace or guarded king. In such cases, it behooves you to pick the spots when you are willing to lose tricks. Let East have any trick if thereby you keep West from winning a later trick in the suit.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable).

South bid 1-Heart on this deal, North 3-Hearts and South 4-Hearts. The lead of the spade 5 was covered by East with the K and South won with the A. He then cleared the outstanding trumps with leads of the A and K. The club Q was next finessed and lost to East's K. His return was a spade to West's Q, and back came a diamond through dummy's K. Declarer was able to claim the remainder of the tricks but was already set one trick.

If South reckons that with East holding the club K and also sitting over the diamond K, the contract may be set, he can forestall defeat by ducking the first trick. Then when East gets in with the club K, no play he makes can put West in the lead and keep declarer from making his contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer South. East-West vulnerable).

How should declarer play for his contract of 4-Hearts after the lead of the spade Q?

Bethlehem's Mail Packs Bigger As Christmas Nears

BETHLEHEM, Conn. —(INS)— This town's little postoffice knows there are but a few shopping days 'till Christmas—letters for remailing are being received in greater quantity each day.

"I don't mind the extra work," said Postmaster Earl Johnson today. "People like to send to friends and relatives Christmas cards bearing the name of Christ's birthplace and I enjoy having a part in helping them."

The idea of having your Christmas letters postmarked Bethlehem began about five years ago, according to Johnson. Each year there has been a marked increase in the number handled. In 1936 it was 21,000 pieces while last year it was 45,000 pieces.

The postmaster, who usually runs the office alone since there are only 544 residents, is allowed two assistants during the Christmas season This number may be boosted as 100,000 pieces of mail are expected to be handled in the remaining days before the holiday.

The mail, according to Johnson, comes from virtually every state in the union. The greatest amount comes from New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

My Neighbor Says:

If Poinsetta leaves start to turn yellow it may be caused by the plant being brought from a cold to a warm temperature They should be kept in a temperature of 70 to 80 degrees

A glass of sweet milk or buttermilk between meals will often banish that tired feeling. Drinking milk just before one goes to bed will also do much to induce sleep.

The fine salt will immediately melt the ice and snow so that traction on the road can be secured. Always carry a few packages of salt in your car during the winter months.

Nice fabric alliance.

By VERA WINSTON

FAILLE and velvet is a very nice fabric alliance that has been used quite a bit for evening, but not for day wear. This oversight is remedied in this handsome afternoon frock, which uses faille for the top and velvet for the skirt. The tight-fitting bodice ends at the hipline, where it joins the flared skirt. It has a velvet bow at neck and velvet wristbands. There is a zipper in back from neck to end of faille. It is a useful frock for general afternoon occasions.

Exposed Ears Need Care

By MME. QUI VIVE

Ears are exposed, right and left, hither and yon. And we can't say that handsome ones are common. Ever since the pompadour vanished, ears have been discreetly covered by silky side locks. We are amazed at some of the auricles that are on display. They're dowdy. And the naked area back of the ears is no help to beauty. Hair lines along the nape of the neck aren't any too good Too high, too low or ziggy.

Women who are afflicted with ears the size of large oysters aren't going to sweep their ambrosial locks upward. When ears aren't pretty they dominate the facial landscape. A neat pair of shell-like sound receivers will get by. There was a time when they were considered beauty assets.

Earrings have come back with a bang. They call attention to the ears. Long dangling pendants are the grand wow for evening wear. But let no girl forget that if they are weighty they will so drag down the ear lobes that they will lose natural contour, look ugly.

Plastic surgeons treat outstanding ears with success; the operation is neither painful nor particularly expensive. Only a medical man in high standing should be consulted

A touch of rouge on the ear-lobes make them look more cheerful, more closely associated with the complexion that carries make-up. The entire ear should be dusted lightly with powder; if it happens to be large a dark shade of powder will make it appear smaller.

When using cream on the face, include the ears and the neck. After washing the ears, dry the inner channel with cotton wrapped around an orange wood stick.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, December 13.

Stirring events mark this day, according to the planetary configurations There is prospect of an extremely important, urgent and possibly revolutionary movement affecting the future destiny and calling for much forethought and wisdom in making decisions. This seems to relate to romance or adventure, presaging activity in the emotional life as well as reorganization of the businuess objectives. While all should thrive and bring happiness, there also may be jealousies and public annoyance.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of major occurrences, with probably decisive moves and drastic action. These relate to the private life as well as business, and may have a far-reaching effect on the future contentment and objectives. While romantic or emotional angles are stressed, business reactions may be drastic. Be wary of arousing jealousies or disagreeable reprisals of a public nature.

A child born on this day may be exceptionally talented, adventurous, original and audacious, and may attain some public recognition However, its romantic nature may arouse jealousy and enmity.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"My best chapeau is doffed most respectfully to you," I told her ruefully. "I surely 'could not see the wood for the trees.' Their tracing us through you just didn't occur to me."

"It may not have occurred to them," she said comfortably. "I just thought I'd mention it in case you wanted to take any extra precautions."

"I do," I said, "but for the moment I can't think just what is best to do. You do not know the faces of the detectives who have been assigned to trail us, so, even if they should be watching for your exit from here, you would not be able to warn us."

"But I know their mugs, both of them," Mary interposed quickly. "I lamped them when Bill and Hank were watching them from the taxi window. If you will be so kind, Miss Whitlock, let me borrow your hat, veil and coat for a minute or two. Let's get a dressing room, then I'll show you a trick"

The nurse sent me a fleeting glance of inquiry, and I nodded.

"It's worth trying," I said, and on the word, Mary and the nurse went out of the room to the dressing room.

I was vaguely prepared for the next step in the little drama, but when a single figure, apparently that of the nurse, came back through the door, proceeded to me and bent over me, I had to look twice to be sure that it was Mary and not Miss Whitlock who was whispering to me.

"Poor Miss Whitlock! She's marooned in the dressing room, practically 'in the raw,' for my clothes are too small for her," she whispered "But I won't be a minute. I'm going to go over to the booth a little way to the right, buy a magazine and return here. That will give me a chance to give every corner of the place the once-over."

"Be careful!" I adjured, and with a little nod she walked to the door leading into the big waiting room, and disappeared through it.

Three minutes later—which seemed as many hours to me—she came back, walking swiftly, magazine in hand, and, catching my hand, pulled me to my feet.

"The dressing room," she said and did not speak again until we were safely behind the locked door.

They're there," she whispered, "both of them. They're perfectly capable of opening the door of that waiting room and looking in, so I thought we'd better beat it in here."

"You're very wise," I told her warmly. "And we'll plan a way out someway."

"'At a girl!" She clapped me warmly on the shoulder. "Suppose I go and release poor Miss Whitlock, and then we'll both come back here In the meantime, you do a lot of thinking!"

Her gaiety was infectious. "I'll do my best." I said, smiling at her, and, on the word, she went away. When she came back with the nurse, each in her own garb, I had my plan ready.

"If my memory serves me," I began, "there is another and infrequently used exit from this place to the train level."

"There is," Miss Whitlock agreed promptly. "It is marked 'Exit only,' and has no sign on the other side."

"I do not believe," I went on slowly, "that the detectives know anything of our movements at present, except that Miss Whitlock is in this room. They probably are under the impression that she expects to meet us here, therefore, all their attention will be focused upon the entrance to this room. Mary's purchase of the magazine just now was most opportune. It will convince them that you expect to have to wait longer before meeting us. So if you stay here, and—"

"Oh, boy!" Mary whispered ecstatically, "I see it all. They'll be watching the entrance keyhole like two little cats, and while Miss Whitlock knits and reads, we'll beat it through the emergency exit and scoot away! That's your idea, isn't it, Auntie Madge?"

Buttermilk Useful In Many Dishes

By PAULINE SCHOFIED
(Home Service Department of The Ohio Fuel Gas Company)

An interesting bit of experimenting has been done with the usage of buttermilk in various recipes. A few of the results are shown here — and they may suggest other ways for you to follow. Buttermilk does add a tantalizing flavor everyone likes and it brings a new economy to so many dishes.

Buttermilk Veal Patties.

1 pound ground veal
¾ cup buttermilk
½ to ¾ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
½ to 1 teaspoon grated onion
1 cup fine soft bread crumbs

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Let stand for a few minutes, then shape into 6 patties. Fry in butter for 8 to 10 minutes, turning to brown on all sides, (have the pan hot to start the frying, then reduce the heat) cover and cook over low heat for about 5 minutes longer or until cooked in the center. Serve with cream gravy. Serves six.

Buttermilk Cornbread.

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup yellow cornmeal
3 tablespoons butter
2 eggs
1 cup buttermilk

Mix and sift the flour, soda, baking powder, sugar and salt. All the cornmeal and mix well. Add the melted butter and the well beaten eggs combined with the buttermilk. Stir just enough to mix and moisten. Pour into a buttered shallow pan and bake in a hot oven (425°F.) for 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Serves six.

Buttermilk Drop Biscuit.

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
6 tablespoons butter
1 cup buttermilk

Mix and sift the flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Work in the butter with the finger tips or cut in with 2 knives. Stir in the buttermilk quickly, mixing just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450°F.) for 12 to 15 minutes or until the crust is brown. This recipe makes 20 small biscuits.

Tomato Buttermilk Drink.

Mix together chilled buttermilk and tomato juice in proportion of ¾ cup buttermilk and ¾ cup tomato juice. Add a few grains of salt and stir until well mixed. Serve immediately with small crackers. This is a refreshing afternoon drink.

Buttermilk Spiced Cake.

⅔ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
2 cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2¼ teaspoons cinnamon
¾ teaspoon cloves
¾ teaspoon allspice
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons buttermilk
Buttermilk filling (given below)
Boiled frosting

Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add the egg yolks and beat well. Mix and sift the flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices and add to the first mixture alternately with the buttermilk. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 3 buttered 9-inch layer cake pans in a moderate oven. Spread the filling given below between the 3 layers and cover with boiled frosting. Make filling as follows:

6 tablespoons flour
½ cup cocoa
¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups buttermilk
1 egg
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Mix the flour, cocoa, sugar and salt in a double boiler. Add the buttermilk gradually and cook stirring constantly for about 5 minutes or until thickened. Cook for about 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add a little of this mixture to the slightly beaten egg and mix well. Beat this into the first mixture, cook for a minute longer, stirring constantly. Add vanilla, cool slightly.

Convalescents

Introducing little surprises on the food tray often will improve the appetite of a convalescent child. Some note from a friend, a new toy, or food served in an unusual guise may do the trick. Telling the child an interesting story may absorb his attention so much that he eats up everything without realizing it.

Storing Fruit Cake

As soon as fruit cakes are removed from oven let them cool on a rack. Wrap them in several thicknesses of heavy waxed paper, held in place with rubber bands. Store them in a covered earthenware jar in a cool place. Add an orange to the jar for additional flavor and a little moisture.

Justifiable

If your family is against leftovers try mixing them with other foods. Or never serve any warmed over food the day following its first appearance. Wait at least a day; the chances are the family will forget it is a leftover.

Apricot Cake Tempts Palate

Apricot cream cake takes:
5 eggs beaten separately
1 cup granulated sugar
1½ tablespoons boiling water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
The filling takes:
½ cup apricots
⅔ cup granulated sugar

For the cake: yolks are beaten until thick and lemon-colored. Sugar is added gradually as beating goes on, also lemon juice and hot water. Baking powder, sifted with flour, is stirred in well. Beaten eggs are folded in last. The batter is poured into two pans and baked in moderate oven.

For the filling: apricots are stewed with sugar and mashed through a sieve. The fine pulp is spread between the two layers of cake, which are then covered with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkled with chopped nuts.

Lemon juice greatly accents the flavors of fresh pears or apples. include a wedge of lemon with each service or place several wedges on small plate and pass.
